Introductory

MANY a man has gone to far countries in search of beauty and diversion, and has returned to find that he has much better at home. What have we in South-Eastern Queensland for an all-the-year-round holiday's enjoyment and advantage to health?

In the Macpherson Range are higher peaks than the Blue Mountains; on Tamborine's plateau, Macpherson Range, and Blackall Range are more impressive botanic gardens than the artificial exhibitions of the great cities. Magnificent, unrivalled panoramic views of mountains, coastal valleys broadening from deep, jungle-clad gorges to smiling farmlands, and the white-topped breakers crashing on the yellow sands of ocean shores, are obtained from many outlooks on these heights of 1,500 to 3,000 feet. We have 150 miles of open Pacific surfing beaches from Noosa to the Tweed whose pleasures surpass the most noted of Southern States. More, our warmer latitudes enable swimmers to enjoy the surf all the year round.

" Then we turned from the murmurous forest-land
And rode over shingle and silver sand.
For so fair was the earth in the golden autumn
That we sought no farther for Fairyland."

Moreton Bay's forty miles of inlets, coves, islands, channels, and rivers, with the broad volume of Brisbane's splendid waterway navigable for large steamers twenty miles to the metropolis, make an aquatic combination without a superior elsewhere. Swimming, sea-bathing, boating, yachting, and fishing—Moreton Bay has all the charms of the salt waterside.

South Queensland has one of the mildest climates in the world, with unfailing cool ocean breezes every evening throughout summer. Queensland's death-rate is the lowest in Australia, and Noosa-Tweed and our south-eastern highlands are the most salubrious of this healthiest of States.

The purpose of this booklet is to describe in detail and illustrate the many beautiful and health-giving scenic resorts which call to Queenslanders to know their own wonderland before venturing abroad. And to Southern tourists our natural glories offer an insistent appeal to those who turn fresh eyes upon our luxuriant sub-tropical trees, foliage, and flowers and taste for the first time in their homeland Queensland's choice tropical fruits.

With Brisbane as the metropolitan centre, there is commanded within a radius of fifty miles a gorgeous variety of forests, with rare palms and ferns and giant trees and parasites, mountain ranges with tablelands of great fertility, waterfalls, broad rivers and rippling streams, rich sugar-growing and dairying valleys, and all within a couple of hours' railway run or motor spin of the glittering Pacific Ocean and its bluff headlands, curving beaches, restless surges, and outlook so cheerily different from the daily round of city and town. Here are delightful changes of scene and wide differences in views and conditions sufficient to satisfy the most exacting.

" Give us when noontide comes
Rest in the woodland free,
Fragrant breath of the gums,
Cold sweet scent of the sea."

In this booklet is detailed and illustrated the attractions of the coastal district from the Noosa River, over eighty miles north of Brisbane, to the Tweed River and beyond the State boundary, a hundred miles south of the metropolis. These scenic features are described under four main heads—(1) "The North Coast District"; (2) "The Bayside Resorts Nearer to Brisbane"; (3) "The South Coast District"; (4) "The Northern Rivers District of New South Wales" (Appendix).

As circumstances at any time may require alteration in the fares and tariff rates published in this booklet, the information given in regard to any rail or motor fare and hotel and boarding-house tariffs must be taken as that at the date of publication and cannot be guaranteed for the full currency of this Guide. The figures quoted, however, will enable intending tourists and health-seekers to obtain estimates of their monetary needs when selecting venues for their holidays.

When applying for accommodation, inquirers would be well advised to mention this publication.

FAMOUS GLASS HOUSE MOUNTAINS—Wonderful Sub-tropical Scenery.

THOSE who pursue the wisest tourists' policy of seeing their own country first will do well to remember that the best train by which to travel North Coastwards leaves the Central Railway Station in Brisbane daily (except Sunday) at 8.10 a.m.

The area to which the designation "North Coast" more particularly applies is entered at Caboolture, a town which stands on a river bearing the same name. Shortly after leaving Caboolture travellers get a fairly close view of the Glass House Mountains, so named by Captain Cook, in 1770, because they reminded him of the glass houses, or glass furnaces, near his home in Yorkshire, England. The aboriginal names of these weirdly shaped and entirely detached elevations have been retained. The eleven principal peaks comprising the Glass House Mountains group are named:—Beerwah (1,760 feet), Coonowrin or Crookneck (1,170 feet), Tibrogargan (1,160 feet), Tunbubudla or The Twins (two peaks 1,100 and 1,020 feet), Micketeekumulgrai (1,000 feet), Beerburum (980 feet), N'gungun (810 feet), Ewan or Tibberoowuccum (750 feet), and Coochin Hills (two peaks each 800 feet). Their grey trachyte cliffs bespeak volcanic origin.

Sternly these topographical freaks face the ocean, standing back from the bay waters in clear profile, each of them a striking landmark.

One of the unfailing fascinations of this line is the beauty of the palm scrubs which for a considerable distance line the way. Picabeen and cabbage palms, intermingled with other trees, grow densely in association with graceful creepers and orchids, epiphyte and ground ferns of vast variety, flowering shrubs, variegated foliage, and many large-leaved ornamental plants.

The Gympie District.

From Mining Romance to Established Prosperous Industry.

Discovered in 1867 by James Nash, and its Diamond Jubilee recently completed, Gympie, like many other Australian cities, has developed from the romance of gold-mining to become the centre of one of the largest and most prosperous dairying and fruitgrowing districts of Queensland, whilst its timber resources are also considerable.

The gold won at Gympie from 1868 to the end of 1927 was 4,084,720 oz., of a value of £14,296,320.

From mining, the city and district have settled down to various forms of agricultural development. One of the main of these is that of dairying, which of late years has made remarkable progress and continues to advance. The Wide Bay Co-operative Dairy Company's butter factory at Gympie is one of the most modern in the State, and in 1924 manufactured 2,384 tons of butter, for which the suppliers received £296,870.

With the opening of the Mary Valley Line to Imbil and Brooloo in 1915, banana-growing made rapid strides, and to-day it ranks with the district's most profitable industries. Weekly consignments of bananas from Gympie Railway Station to Southern markets often exceed 2,000 cases. The cultivation of pineapples, papaws, custard apples, and citrus fruits is extending rapidly.

The Queensland Forestry Board is performing excellent work in reafforestation and, at Imbil, on the Mary Valley Line, areas have been planted with hoop and bunya pine.

CITY OF GYMPIE.

Gympie, 106 miles north by rail from Brisbane, was proclaimed a city on the 7th January, 1905, and has a population of 9,200.

TIN CAN BAY.

The hilly nature of its environs, combined with the wide range of colourful trees, shrubs, and plants in the suburban area, especially in the spring and early summer, lends enchantment to the city. From the top of the many hills a fine view is obtainable, while the surrounding mountains, some rising to a height of over 2,000 feet, complete a delightful setting to the whole vista. Breathing spaces are amply provided for, and one of the most recent to be dedicated is Memorial Park, of over three acres, in close proximity to the civic centre. Gympie has an excellent water supply pumped from the Mary River and conveyed by gravitation to the city. Electric light and gas are supplied by two private companies. Scholastic institutions are well provided for, and the Gympie High School ranks amongst the best of its kind in the State.

In accommodation and in service furnished by the leading emporiums, the needs of the visitor to Gympie are well catered for.

TIN CAN BAY.

A Seaside Resort in the Making.

Situated some thirty-five miles by road from Gympie, on the southern bank of Schnapper Creek, fronted by the broad waters of the inlet, is Tin Can Bay, destined to become the bayside resort for the city. On the way, fields of beautiful variegated wild flowers, embracing native boronia, Christmas bells, and wild sage, are passed.

Excellent fishing of all varieties is obtainable in the creeks, inlet, and in the bay. Shellfish also are plentiful. Motor launches for pleasure and fishing are available.

At the present, accommodation in the way of boarding-houses is not provided for. A few furnished cottages are available for letting purposes, and application for these should be made to Mr. A. G. Austin, Gympie, who is President of the Tin Can Bay Progress Association.

A glance at the accompanying map will show the location of this new resort.

COOROY, TEWANTIN, AND NOOSA.

COOROY (the aboriginal word for the native bear) derived its name from a mountain not far away, and is the station at which those passengers who intend to visit Tewantin and Noosa Heads leave the train. The landscape for the balance of the journey may be seen very pleasurable from the cushioned seat of a motor-car. The distance from Cooroy Railway Station to Tewantin is about nine miles, and is accomplished in three-quarters of an hour.

Mount Cooroy is an isolated peak of conical formation. It stands north-eastward from the famous and beautiful Blackall Range. A low but fairly steep series of hills is crossed on the road to Tewantin, and Tinbeerwah, a cliff-topped mountain, for a time claims attention. Patches of palms, including several species, giant trees of the eucalyptus family, and hollows and slopes densely carpeted with bracken add interest to the way. Many practical Southern dairy farmers have purchased land in the district at prices ridiculously cheap in comparison to other favoured localities. Well-established farms and blocks, on which the labour of clearing has but recently begun, lie close by.

All round about Cooroy dairy farming, fruit-growing, including bananas, pineapples, and citrus, and mixed farming are profitably undertaken. Those who visit the district periodically find on each succeeding visit more hillsides cleared of their original timbers, and cropped with bananas. Other busy industries are timber-getting and sawmilling.

TEWANTIN AND ITS LAKES.

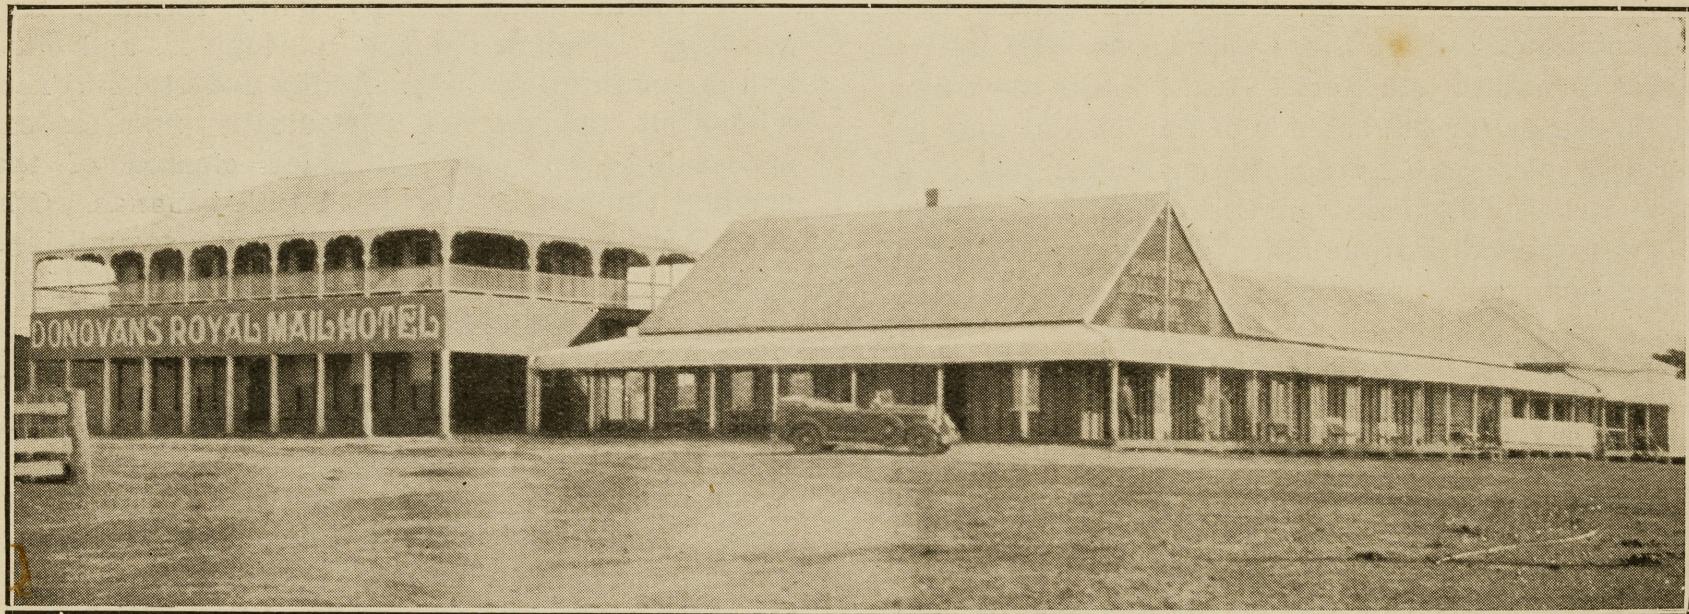

As the ages of towns and villages go in Queensland, Tewantin is a fairly old settlement. It stands restfully beside the broad mouth of the Noosa River. Green, smooth, and richly shady, it comforts tired eyes. Handsome heavily-foliaged trees, velvety sward, neat homely houses, hospitable family hotels, tempting seats, enticing walks, little jetties, motor boats, swimming enclosures, total absence of glare, a deep still lake, rich orchards, gardens, a refreshingly green island as vis-a-vis, the distant rhythmic roar of ocean breakers, a river supremely beautiful in its upper reaches and from which through deep straits some large and beautiful lakes may be gained, Tewantin really is unique in situation and bountiful in its supply of beauty, restfulness, and sport. The Noosa River fishing-grounds have no superior in Australia. In the river, at its mouth, in Lakes Weyba, Cooroiba, and Cootharaba, fish of many varieties, including bream of several kinds, flathead, jewfish, perch, long-tom, tailor, whiting, garfish, swallow-tail, cod, sole, and other fish abound, and even the novice is assured of big catches. Crabs, both mud and sand varieties, are also plentiful.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. J. Symon, of Victoria, are regular visitors to Tewantin and, over a recorded period of fourteen years, they have caught 53,762 fish, giving an average catch of 3,840 fish per visit of five months' duration. For Southerners it is an ideal place for winter fishing, the weather being most delightful. The beauty of the fishing here is its wonderful variety.

Cootharaba is the largest of the lakes, and is distant some ten miles from Tewantin. Once visited, its charming aspect will cling to memory, so magnificent is the scenery.

Fishing parties and picnics on the shore are made doubly enjoyable by the addition of luscious fruits, which may be bought at the small cost of wholesale prices, straight from vine, plant, or tree.

Lake Cootharaba, or the "Big Lake," as it is commonly called, is seven miles long by five miles wide, and is reached by ascending the Noosa River through Lake Cooroiba. The banks of the river are densely clothed in vegetation, and present a very fine spectacle, especially when the wild apple and other scrub plants are in bloom. From the southern entrance to the lake, at a distance of about three miles to the left, is Boreen Point, a pretty spot, much frequented by picnickers.

Opposite to Boreen is a cliff some 600 feet high, against which large patches of sands of various shades of colour have banked. These coloured sands, when collected and deftly placed in a glass phial or bottle so as to show to advantage the variegated strata, afford a pleasant memento of the trip and of the "Teewah Sands."

Lakes Como and Cooloola lie to the north of Cootharaba, and in both of these excellent shooting and fishing, especially fresh-water perch, are obtainable. The Noosa River is navigable for light draught boats a distance of thirty miles from the Heads.

For those hardy sportsmen who prefer open-sea waters for their operations with hook and line, the bright, broad waters of Laguna Bay are available. To get there it is necessary to cross the bar at the mouth of the river, and hired motor boats usually convey the schnapper-fishing enthusiasts to the right localities for securing both size and quantity.

Another charm of Tewantin Village is that it is free from insect pests. There are no sand dunes or sandflies; no brush, undergrowth, or swamps to provide harbour for mosquitoes.

A post office, telephone service, school of arts, stores, school, and public halls provide worldly requisites without impairing seclusion and peace.

NOOSA AND ITS BEACHES.

Motor boats meet the mail motor twice a day, and convey passengers between Tewantin and Noosa, the distance being about three miles. Lying between the two places on level land above the south bank of the estuary is a village known as Gympie Terrace, from the fact that many residents of Gympie have marine villas there, each furnished with its own landing place and motor or sailing boat.

Passengers for Noosa Beach or boarding-houses are easily landed from the motor boats, and a short walk through a shady scrub of typical sea-shore character brings them to very comfortable quarters or the most charming of wave-washed sands. Back from the beach stand easily-climbed hills, with tree-clad sides and pine-crowned tops. On the lower slopes the ever-encroaching cultivation of the banana now asserts itself very profitably for the cultivators. The beach itself, washed by the clean curling breakers of Laguna Bay, is an ideal spot for safe surf bathing.

Not far away is another beach, which has more thrilling acquaintance with gales, especially those which come from the south-east. This beach, Coolum, may be reached by walking from Noosa Beach round boulder-strewn Noosa Heads if it is proposed to follow the sealine, or it may very

"The Devil's Kitchen" and "Paradise Caves," in proximity to the former, and "The Boiling Pot" (one and a-half miles from Noosa) are other rock formations which each, by their familiar signification, hint their own tale, and when once visited, are ever afterwards remembered as forming an important part of the unique interests of a North Coast holiday.

Visitors to Tewantin or Noosa are assured of splendid accommodation at either place, and motor, rowing, or sailing boats can be obtained on hire at reasonable rates.

NAMBOUR.

The Metropolis of the Scenic North Coast District.

There is no coastal railway in Australia that can furnish so many and interesting towns and districts as this North Coast route. Nambour, a sugar-growing, sugar-milling town, sixty-five miles from Brisbane, is only one of several agricultural towns of like character which lie but narrowly apart in the rich palm scrub area. Before clearing and cultivation began, their sites and surroundings were all similar in character to the State reservations which here and there lie so luxuriantly beside the iron way. Yandina, Nambour, Woombye, and Palmwoods have much in common in topography, soil, and productivity, and somewhat similar characteristics may be noted at Eumundi, North Arm, Eudlo, and other towns within a short mileage. Sugar-cane grows luxuriantly round about Nambour and the sister towns, and the annual district shows witness much rivalry between them for supremacy in orchard, field, kitchen garden, nursery, and dairy products.

The palm scrubs, so conveniently at hand, furnish all the material for perfection in the decorative demands of amusement halls, and often truckloads of palms are sent to Brisbane for similar purposes. It is evident that prosperity abounds in these districts, and that the populations realise their good fortune in being placed on such good soil and in congenial environment. The general average rainfall of this district is 62 inches.

Much of the prosperity of Nambour and the surrounding district is due to the wisdom and enterprise of the Moreton Central Sugar Milling Company, which has given, and still gives, encouragement and financial assistance to canegrowers of the right sort. The Company's mill at Nambour accomplishes heavy crushings in the season, and at off seasons puts its power to the purposes of milling pine and other timbers. The mill crushes on an average 800 tons of cane per day, yielding over 100 tons of raw sugar. In the season it gives employment on an average to 190 men, and pays in wages £1,000 per week. The average price of cane to the growers this year will be £2 per ton. For the 1927 season the mill crushed 46,355 tons of cane for 5,917 tons of raw sugar.

Mount Coolum Beach

MOUNT COOLUM BEACH was originally known as the Green Hills, which were mentioned by Captain Cook in the narrative of his voyage along the Queensland Coast, and have long been inaccessible from the hinterland on account of the difficulty of constructing a road. The situation is close to Mount Coolum, about seven miles north of the mouth of the Maroochy River and ten miles south of Noosa Heads. From Yandina Railway Station it is about ten and a-half miles. The Company who have taken on the development of the place were greatly influenced by the magnificent Beach, freedom from sandflies and mosquitoes, pretty scenery, and excellent sport obtainable. They have already expended £600 on the formation of a road from Yandina, and this amount has been increased to £2,000 by contributions from the Government, Stephens Estate, and local Settlers. This road is now nearly completed, and will be a great success—it is used by motors and other vehicles every week-end—the beautiful scenery along the route being particularly attractive. Two stores and many cottages, and a large boarding-house have already been erected. The owners have also subsidised the Moreton Mill Company's Extension Branch Tramway to the estate, and Trams now run daily to the terminus, which is within 100 yards of the Beach. The owners have erected bathing sheds, lavatories, swings, and a maypole, which they have handed over to the Local Authority free of charge. One of the great attractions is a natural toboggan, upon which the sleds run down a grassy declivity of 250 to 300 feet. Mountaineering on Mount Coolum and Mount Peregian, hunting for ferns and orchids through the scrubs, lawn tennis and cricket grounds, all add to the magnetism of the lovely beach, upon which the most perfect racecourse exists when the tide is out. In fact, it is so wide, level, and hard that motor racing will certainly follow the settlement of the locality; and as for aviation, no position could be more suitable. Fishing, of course, is superb, and the absence of mosquitoes and sandflies is the greatest boon of all.

The mileage of the Company's tramway lines constantly increases as new sugar-lands come under cultivation. The latest extension is to Coolum, about 12 miles from Nambour, where a large area of cane is now planted, and a growing township established on the hills close to this fine extent of beach.

During the crushing season it is the most convenient mill at which Southern visitors to Brisbane may view the whole process of raw sugar manufacture.

Another tramway or light line of railway leads from Nambour up a steep zig-zag route along the Highworth District to Mapleton, a rich agricultural, dairying, and fruitgrowing area. Near the Nambour Show Ground, one mile from town, a nine-hole golf course has been laid out.

ROAD TO COOLUM BEACH.

This beauty spot has until recently been very difficult of access, on account of the swamps about the northern side of the Maroochy River, but by means of large subscriptions from a syndicate and from other interested persons, supplemented by an endowment from the Treasury of Queensland, sufficient funds were obtained to commence active operations in road-making from a point some distance outward from Yandina to the Beach. The whole of this road has been formed, and arrangements have been made to put it into good condition for motor and other wheel traffic.

Adjoining Coolum Beach numbers of beautiful building sites have been subdivided for sale, and many persons are building seaside residences there.

COOLUM BEACH.

The Rising North Coast Resort.

Newest of all North Coast Seaside Resorts is Coolum Beach, which, on thorough and practical business lines, will place it high in popularity among patrons of this favoured North Coast District. Distant about ten and a-half miles from the railway township of Yandina and twelve and a-half from Nambour, it is reached by tram and by motor or other vehicle along a well-made road passing through typical subtropical scrub and forest country. The Moreton

(4) COOLUM'S BEAUTIFUL SURFING BEACH.

Central Sugar Mill Company has already laid a tram-line for the haulage of the settlers' cane to their mill at Nambour, and the Coolum Beach Company has paid the cost of the extension to the Beach.

Grassy slopes, long stretches of fine white sandy beach, relieved at intervals with rocky headlands, gently sloping hills down which tobogganing can be indulged, mountain climbing, scrub hunting, duck, quail, and snipe shooting, safe surf bathing, excellent fishing, protection from westerly winds, and absence of mosquitoes and sandflies are the main features of Coolum Beach. A more delightful spot at which to spend a pleasant holiday could not be imagined.

A climb to Mount Coolum close handy is well repaid by the excellent seascape and panorama of the fertile Maroochy Valley and winding river that meets the eye and holds one in rapt admiration of such thrilling scenery.

The first section of a large area of beach frontages for residential allotments has been disposed of by the Company, and the second section compares more than favourably with the first. Bathing sheds, swings, and a maypole have been erected, and telephonic communication with Yandina established. A comfortable boarding-house provides accommodation for visitors.

Means of Access.

(1) Rail to Nambour by North Coast train, thence by tram to Coolum Beach. Tram leaves Nambour Wednesdays and Saturdays 5 a.m. and 12.45 p.m., returning same day from Coolum Beach 7 a.m. and 3 p.m.; Sundays, 8.30 a.m., returning 5.30 p.m. Fare, 2s. 6d. single.

(2) Rail to Yandina, North Coast line, thence by motor-car. Fare, 12s. 6d. single.

YANDINA.

Yandina, the first railway town north of Nambour, still retains the proportions of a village, though there is usually considerable activity at its railway station. It contains hotel and boarding-house accommodation, has both fresh and salt water fishing, and is adjacent to good picnic sites—Mount Ninderry, in the Golden Valley, or some prettily situated and pleasant, though not imposing, waterfalls. The Golden Valley is also famed for the excellence of the bananas produced

The Maroochy Shire Council has a number of well-advanced main road schemes, which in time will make a complete chain of good motor roads.

At Yandina, motor cars may be hired for trips to the many charming spots in the district. Particular mention may be made of the trip to Coolum. The road runs along the north bank of the Maroochy River, and the scenery is charming throughout.

MAPLETON AND FLAXTON.

Exhilarating Atmosphere; Charming Range Vistas.

At an elevation of some 1,400 feet above sea-level, and commanding one of the finest views of the famous Blackall Range, is the progressive township of Mapleton. A trip by motor car, motor 'bus, or tram over the Highworth District to Mapleton is full of interest. Leaving behind the canefields around Nambour, banana groves and citrus orchards (the latter laid out with geometrical precision) are passed, whilst away down in the valleys dairy herds grazing in sweet contentment are discerned. As the car ascends, the air becomes more and more bracing, and glimpses are gained of the broad ocean, whose ozone impregnates the air. Mapleton and the surrounding country provide many attractive beauty spots for the tourist visitor's inspection. Looking eastward, an extensive panorama, embracing a broad and very beautiful view of ranges and a hundred miles of coastline, is obtained, the range of vision extending from Noosa Heads to the South Passage, Moreton Island. Within two and a-half miles of the Post Office is the scenic Mapleton (formerly Baroon) Falls, from the top of which the water takes a sheer drop of 700 feet, where it is lost to sight in the ravines and dense scrub below. Many miniature though very fine waterfalls are close at hand. Above the Mapleton Falls some splendid panoramas are obtainable, one of which portrays five distinct ranges. Another affords a view of the Obi Obi Valley below, where dairying, fruitgrowing, and timber-getting are chiefly carried on.

The principal industries in and around Mapleton include canegrowing, fruit cultivation, dairying, timber-getting, &c. Citrus and other fruits are extensively raised, and 20,000 cases is a low estimate of any season's output, 90 per cent. of which is citrus. The Mapleton soils, being of a red volcanic nature, are well adapted for this industry.

Visitors should arrange a drive by motor-car along the top of the range, through Flaxton to Montville.

All the way to Montville the drive from Mapleton is very beautiful. Well-kept orchards, well-built homesteads (some of them of the newest Canadian and American bungalow type), and beautiful flower gardens are passed. A few Imperial Army and A.I.F. officers have made their homes and found their civil occupation here. At Flaxton, en route, Mr. H. Wilfred Walker, F.R.G.S., who uses the most scientific methods with admirable results, has his picturesque homestead placed at the extreme outlook of a hill, and has appropriately named it "The Limit." Scarcely would it have been possible for a man to have made himself a home in a scene possessing a truer combination of beauty and fertility, and it is well worth an inspection by visiting tourists, whom Mr. Walker will be pleased to welcome.

For miles the ocean is included in the view. At one point and for a considerable distance the scene is wholly panoramic, and widely experienced travellers have been eloquent in praise of its scenic charm.

For tourist accommodation there are a good hotel and excellent boarding-houses at Mapleton, and a visit there is wholly pleasurable and healthful, particularly during the winter months.

Mapleton owes the trustees of the Mapleton Falls Reserve a deep debt of gratitude for their energy and enterprise in carrying out the many public improvements and attractions at the Falls. The Reserve comprises an area of ten acres, and is situated two and a-half miles from Mapleton Post Office along a road lined with citrus orchards and banana farms.

MAROOCHYDORE—Combining Charm of River and Ocean.

Like the waters of Noosa River, those of Maroochy River, right to its discharge into the Pacific Ocean at Maroochydore, are famous fishing places. "You cannot go wrong there," say the adepts with hook, bait, rod, and line, and, as at Noosa, there seems no limit to variety—whiting, bream, mullet, flathead, garfish, tailor, rock cod, groper, schnapper, squire, jew, and many others.

At Maroochydore there is an extensive beach, close to a tea-tree reserve which is famous as a camp colony in summer and holiday time. Accommodation less picnic-like in character also is provided at Maroochydore by an excellent hotel and by first-class boarding-houses. Furnished cottages are also obtainable. (See advertisements.)

Cartwright Point stands out boldly; its connection with the land is so slight that it looks almost like an island.

There are dressing-rooms, sheds, and a life-saving reel at the beach. The beach stretches unbrokenly for four miles, and is divided by an apparently impassable region of boulders below the point from further extensive beaches beyond.

Maroochydore is very charmingly placed. The placid waters beside it are shallow and many-shaded in their vagaries of green. The view includes a small headland standing out strikingly bare except for a meagre row of equally distanced trees. A few miles further out is Mudjimba Rock, commonly called "Old Woman Island," to which an interesting aboriginal legend is attached, and in proximity to which excellent catches of schnapper and other deep-sea fishes are made.

Shoals of fish constantly pass, mullet being most numerous. On one side Buderim Mountain farms overlook the scene from the few miles distant. The front view to the northward, beyond the placid lake-like waters and timbered shores, takes in Mounts Coolum on the right, Cooroy in the far middle distance, and Ninderry on the left, which stand out clear and distinct.

A distant rhythmic roar of surf always accompanies life at Maroochydore, and away beyond the queer little headland strong eyes may see the sparkle of spray as waves beat upon the sands of the beach.

There is a choice of regular motor-boat trips to Deepwater, Bli Bli, and Yandina. The trip to Yandina follows the upward course of the Maroochy River. The beauty of the waterway is intensified by the tamed luxuriance of Nature, which now for the greater part on each side of the tidal stream has given place to homes, gardens, and orchards.

The Maroochy River has several tributaries, one of which, Petrie's Creek, is traversed on the water route which leads to Deepwater, the terminus of the Moreton Sugar Company's tramway. On the way sugar-cane plantations and fruit farms are passed. Fishermen's homes, identified by drying nets, are seen. At short distances there are landing-stages on which cases of fruit—chiefly pineapples, bananas, and passion-fruit—are waiting to form part of the cargo. Glimpses of maize patches suggest variety in the character of the soil on the flats.

A magnificent panorama is obtained from the top of Mount Coolum, which is reached by taking the motor-boat up the Maroochy River to the landing at Coolum Creek, a distance of nine miles from Maroochydore; thence a short walk and easy climb land one at the summit. The view encompassed includes Bribie, Moreton, and Stradbroke Islands, whilst down beneath, the beautiful Coolum Beach stretches uninterruptedly for miles along the coast.

Dunethim Rock and Dunethim Lake, 12 miles up the Maroochy River, are picturesque spots well worth visiting. Regular and reliable motor services are now conducted between Palmwoods Railway Station and Maroochydore, and, passing through the Woombye District on the way, many picturesque pineapple farms, set against the distant sub-tropical scenery, are encountered. At intervals dense palm scrubs line the way. The road for the greater distance has been constructed by the Main Roads Board, which has still to build a section of a few miles near Palmwoods, and also a short section near Maroochydore.

Means of Access.

Maroochydore may be reached by many different routes, the most convenient of which are enumerated hereunder.

The return journey can always be made by a method different from the forward one, whereby new scenes are continually unfolded to the tourist. In this feature Maroochydore excels.

(1) Rail to Palmwoods (60 miles from Brisbane Central Station) daily, except Sunday, at 8.10 a.m., thence char-a-banc or motor 'bus, leaving at 11 a.m., on arrival of morning train from Brisbane. Fare, 4s. Returning from Maroochydore same day if necessary. Week-end trains from and to Brisbane are also met.

Railway fares from Brisbane to Palmwoods—First class, 12s. 8d., Second class, 8s. 3d. Excursion, return, First class, 18s. 11d., Second class 12s. 5d. Saturday-Sunday Excusion, First class, 13s. 7d., Second class 9s. 5d.

(2) Rail to Yandina (69 miles), thence per Coulson's motor launch to destination. Train leaves Brisbane Central daily (except Sunday). Launch leaves Yandina daily (except Sunday), 9.30 a.m. Return same day from Maroochydore in the afternoon. Fare, 3s. each way.

If tourists so wish they can proceed to Maroochydore from Palmwoods via Buderim Mountain (7 miles), thence by car $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles, arrangements for which require to be made at Buderim. By this latter route a good round trip could be undertaken, embracing Palmwoods, Buderim Mountain, Maroochydore, and return either via Palmwoods or Yandina.

ALEXANDRA HEADLAND AND MOOLOOLABA.Prominent Maritime Resorts—Summer and Winter.

No finer view of beach, river, bay, and mountains can be obtained than that from these resorts, where many building sites have lately been sold with a view to the formation of a holiday town. Already some pretty red-roofed houses have been built. These seaside resorts are destined in the future to be among the most popular along the North Coast. The Headland itself is attractive and picturesque. From the higher points of vantage some beautiful coastal scenes are noted—Point Cartwright and the entrance to the Mooloolah River forming a very fine picture indeed. The vast stretch of clean sandy beach appeals to the surfer, especially as it is so well sheltered from the boisterous south-easterly weather which occasionally prevails. This surfing beach, lying between Mooloolaba in the south and Maroochydore in the north, is one of the best in Australia. Alexandra Headland stands out like a giant sentinel at the centre, and Old Woman Island (Mudjimba), with its gnarled trees, marks the northern approach. With a long range perspective as to the requirements of the southern tourist when "doing" Queensland in the winter season, Mr. T. O'Connor has erected a fine novel hostel at Alexandra Headland, replete with every modern convenience. From its wide balconies may be seen glorious views of ocean and bushland, of Mount Coolum, Green Hills, Old Woman Island, and Point Cartwright—the whole panorama forming a theme of surpassing beauty.

Golf links are being constructed at Alexandra Headland, as well as a bowling green and tennis court. An aerial landing ground is also being provided for.

No oceanside resort in Queensland offers better surfing, boating, swimming, and fishing facilities than the 6-mile stretch of beach between Mooloolaba and Maroochydore.

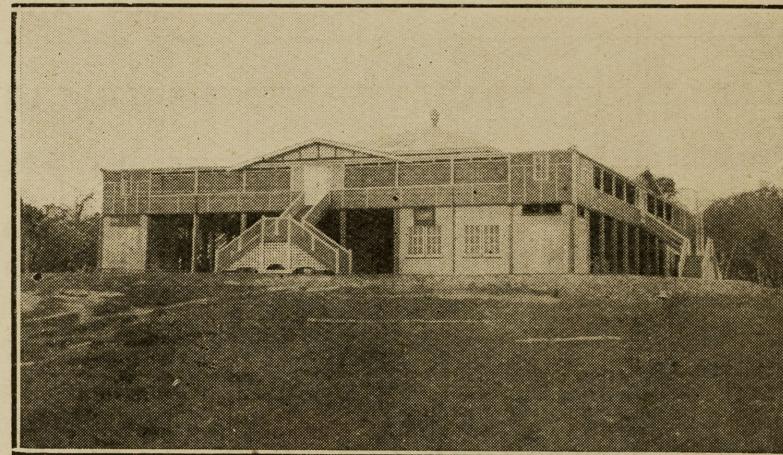

Mooloolaba is rapidly coming into prominence as one of our favourite seaside resorts. It offers great attractions to visitors who are fond of surfing, boating, or fishing. The beautiful ocean beach and the smooth water of Mooloolah River each have special attractions. Several nice houses have recently been BUDERIM—Renowned for Health and Wealth.

Those who would see the orchards from which the popular Buderim oranges and coffee come must leave the North Coast Railway at Palmwoods and travel by the Maroochy Shire Council's tramway to the fertile tableland on the top of Buderim Mountain, situated at an elevation of 600 feet. The red-soiled roads of pretty Palmwoods township are left behind, and outlying pineapple and orange orchards are passed before the little tram, behind the sturdy little engine, begins its steady ascent over a way which reveals a magnificent and varied growth of timbers on hillside, gorge, and glen.

Rippling creeks, newly won clearings, forest, and glen, and then comes the stiffest climb, from which the finest scenic effects—heavily timbered precipices and palm-clad glades—are seen.

Banana farms prosperously flourish on slopes towards the top. Coffee is also successfully grown, and the quality of the article produced bears favourable comparison with anything on the market. A trip to any of these coffee plantations is full of interest to the visitor.

The broad, elevated plateau of the mountain top, which was formerly held by a few pioneer selectors, now provides homes and incomes for a large number of fruit farmers, and the whole settlement comprises what may best be described as an extensive fruit-producing village.

One of the show places of Buderim is the school-house farm patch. The Buderim school officially is linked up with the Nambour Rural School.

There are excellent boarding-houses, from the balconies and towers of which a scene of grandeur, breadth, and variety may be viewed. Eastward, beyond banana fields, pleasant homesteads, trees, and dense foliage, is the sea. Westward are the billowy heights, tall timbers, light and shade of the Blackall Range. Northward are beautiful valleys giving silvery glimpses of winding streams.

W. P. MITCHELL - PROPRIETOR

Views should be obtained and studied from various points, each of which will have a delightful surprise to offer. One of the most effective pictures can be seen from the grounds of the Misses Lindsay, daughters of one of the oldest and most progressive pioneers. It includes ranges and richly timbered forests, valleys through which wind silvery streams, a glimpse of bay waters. The light and shade effects are as variable as they are beautiful, and the glory of dawn, sunrise, and sunset is intensified by the surrounding loveliness.

The drive from Buderim to Mooloolaba or Maroochydore is beautiful throughout its length. After leaving the plateau it passes through forest ways, looks down on new farms or densely timbered hollows, and in its more level ways is pleasantly familiar with palm and luxuriant carpets of fern. Portion of the drive may be made to lead across the wet sand of the beach, and the whole, including fishing, bathing, and picnicking, is accomplishable within the limits of a day. There is a regular daily motor 'bus service to and from Mooloolaba, but arrangements for the drive to Maroochydore must be made at Buderim.

Buderim Mountain orchardists now find ready markets for their products in Sydney and Melbourne. Every Thursday sees consignments of fruit sent by tram to Palmwoods Station, whence it is conveyed South by special fruit trains, arriving in time for the morning markets in Sydney on the following Monday and in Melbourne on Tuesday.

Means of Access.

Whilst awaiting train, tram, or car, a delightful time can be spent at Palmwoods, which is pleasantly situated amidst scrub and forest land.

MONTVILLE—Queen of the Blackall Range.

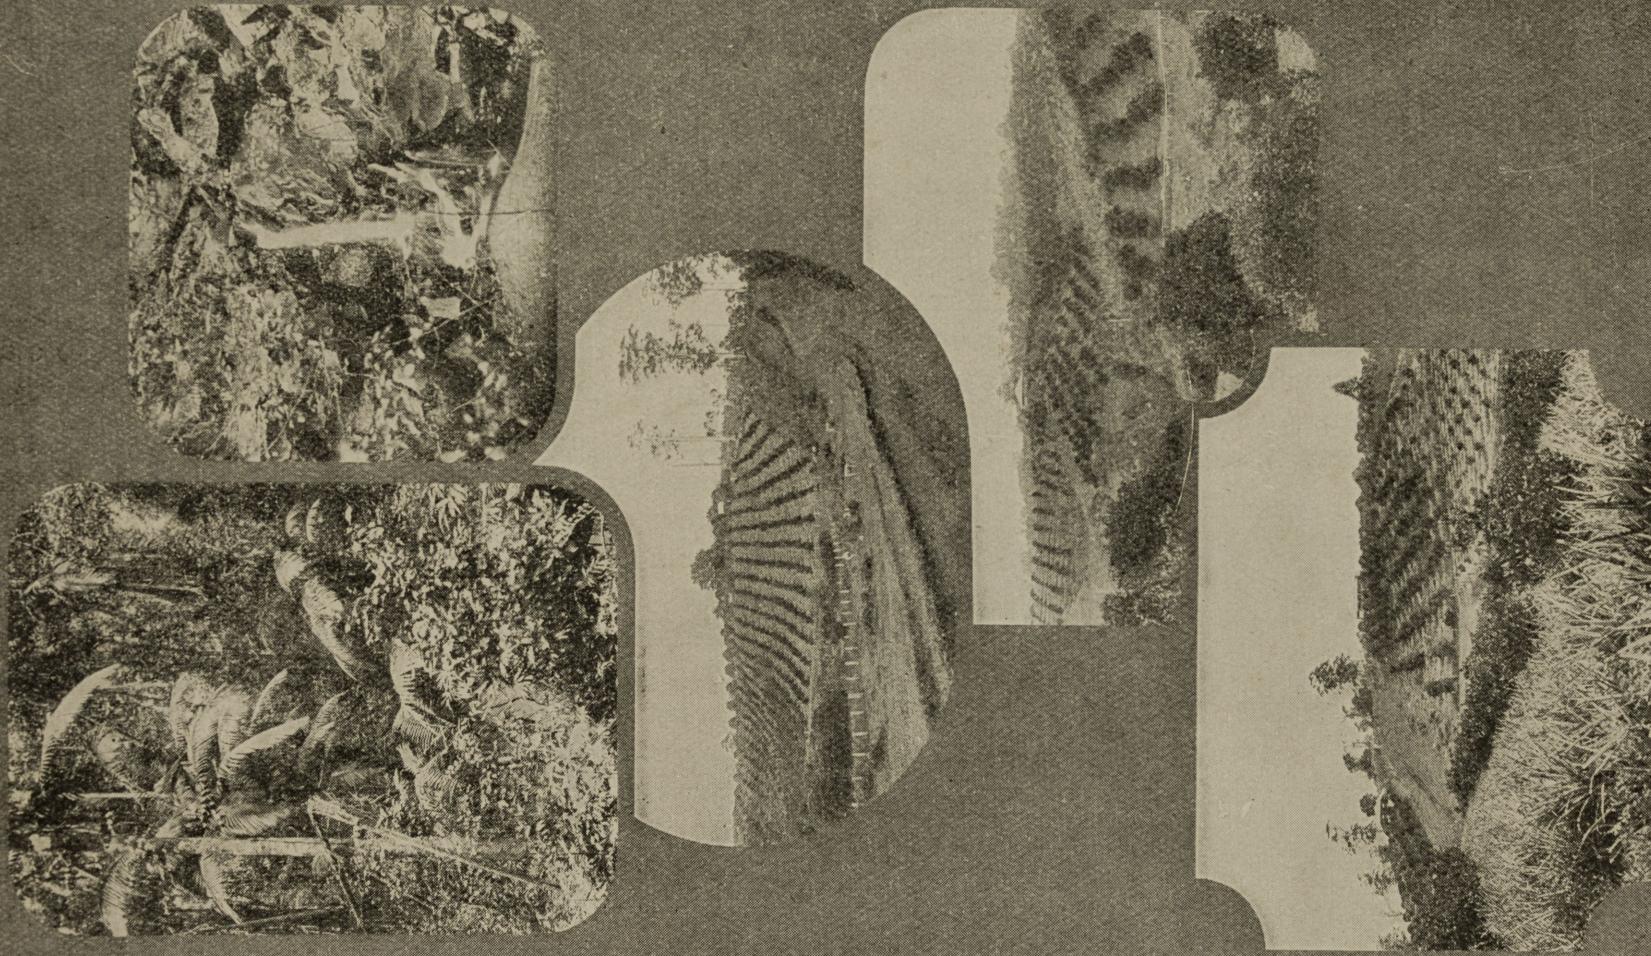

Those Queenslanders or tourists who decide upon seeing all the beauties and holiday resorts approachable from the North Coast Line most probably will choose some point of interest and make it a centre for explorations, and those metropolitan residents who wisely indulge the week-end holiday habit will seek places easily accomplishable between Saturday and Monday. The latter class of traveller, also those who seek a longer stay in scenes both beautiful and recreative, will find Montville, 1,460 feet above sea-level, a fruitgrowing area on the Blackall Ranges, uniquely capable of supplying all that they ask.

To reach Montville it is necessary to leave the North Coast Railway at Palmwoods. Presuming that the 8.10 a.m. train from Brisbane has been travelled by, there will be ample time to make a brief survey of Palmwoods before taking a seat in the Royal mail or other motor car on which the drive of some six miles to Montville usually is accomplished. So popular has Montville become that it is always necessary to write beforehand to assure that accommodation has been secured and seats reserved in the ordinary conveyance or that additional conveyances are chartered to meet the emergencies of a rush of sightseers.

The splendid road recently completed by the Main Roads Board ascends nearly all the way in its passage over the ranges, and here and there, in high, clear spaces, affords glimpses of the sea. Skirting the side of precipices it looks over pleasant valleys and ferny glades and reveals tree-lined streams and timbered sides of other hills.

On reaching the top the different quality of the atmosphere is noted. It is the genuinely cool, exhilarating atmosphere of mountain heights in a temperate climate. Super-richness, too, is expressed by the colour and grain of the soil. Here, too, Nature's wonderful old chemist did a rapid and marvellous work in prehistoric times, and fruitful orchards reveal richness, variety, and perfection.

Viewed in the fulness of daylight on a sunny day, the outlook towards the ocean shows range after range in a peculiar beauty and indefinite but harmonious colouring of light and shade—ever changing, always charming. Far down below, the roofs of familiar North Coast Railway townships glisten. Buderim Mountain looms up in the distance. Through a pink and purple haze close to the coast there gleams a broad sweep of sea. With the aid of glasses the glistening track of the locomotive may be sighted, and a locomotive whistle carried sharply through the air suggests a nearness that really is delusive.

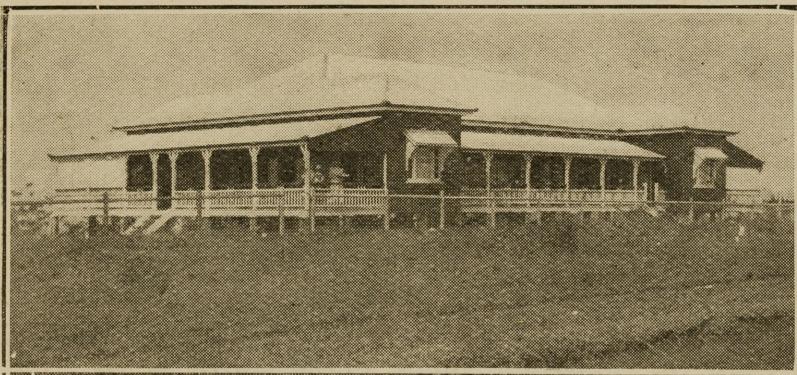

At the top of the Range, Mr. Smith has a large min-ocular telescope, 7 feet long, through which, at small cost, visitors may view panoramas of the surrounding country.

Those who stay a while at Montville will be sure to study that ever-changing, ever-complete picture. They will see it at dawn with its pink flush of sky beyond its lake-like, level, snow-white mists. They will see it, too, under the gossamer veil of moonlight as they stand on the balcony or veranda, for, by wise and beautiful choice, the guest houses have been placed close beside the edge of the mountain range. That mountain edge is carpeted with soft green grass or bordered by orchards, golden of crop, vividly green of foliage, and deeply red of soil.

Then, too, on a clear, starry night they will discern the light of Double Island Lighthouse, 48 miles to the north, whilst away to the south-east, 42 miles, is the South Passage Light on Moreton Island, the whole vision including a stretch of 90 miles of ocean.

Westward from Montville the long range views encompass from Kenilworth Station away to the north to Conondale Station in the south. Eastward, beside

VIEW ON BLACKALL RANGE (looking West from "Manjralda")

Buderim, Mounts Coolum, Ninderry, and Cooroy are silhouetted against the sky.

Visitors may find exercise and recreation in pleasant walks for miles through wooded lanes, each with its own red road, and through shady paths in extensive patches of dense scrub. The artistic sense which decided that construction at Montville should not involve total destruction has made several such patches easily available.

The best botanic ground always is that of the scrubs. Chestnuts, Moreton Bay figs, eucalypts, yellow-wood, and many other trees grow in the scrubs, which, long since denuded of cedar and other marketable timbers, are now in their second stage of development. Broad-leaved arum lilies are among the many ornamental species which here abound among crowding creepers, tree ferns, zamias, and flowering shrubs.

Mandarins and oranges in many varieties, limes, lemons, pineapples, papaws, passion-fruit, bananas, and custard-apples all can be grown profitably, but oranges and pines are most orchardists' staples.

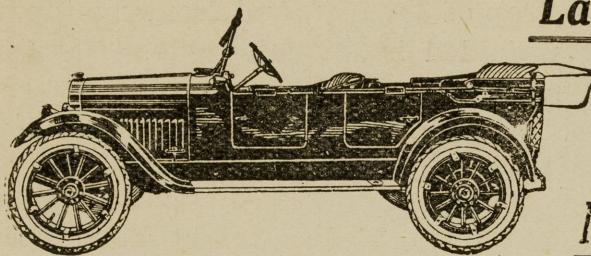

Less than 2 miles away is the Bon Accord Waterfall, which has a drop of 300 feet, and from the top of which the view unfolded is incomparable. Obi Obi Creek, which lies westward of the ranges, has a very beautiful course. At one period it rushes through a gorge or canyon known as "The Narrows."

Fresh-water cod up to 33 lb. weight have been caught in the Obi Obi Creek, which is within comfortable walking distance of Montville. Excellent sport with the gun is obtained in the adjacent scrubs.

Montville people are quite justified in describing the Blackall Ranges as the "Blue Mountains" of Queensland. So widely travelled and distinguished a visitor as the late Hon. James Bryce, formerly British Ambassador to the United States, and a celebrated man of letters, described Montville as being "as fertile in its soil and beautiful in its outlook as any place to be found anywhere."

Arrangements can be made through either of the boarding establishments for visitors to be driven from here to Mapleton (via Flaxton), about six miles, should they be desirous of visiting the latter resort.

LANDSBOROUGH—The Gateway to Bald Knob, Maleny, Conondale, and Caloundra.

Landsborough, 51 miles by rail from Brisbane, is a busy and important centre. Considerable quantities of timber, fruit, &c., are regularly railed to Brisbane and elsewhere. Passengers for Bald Knob, Maleny, and Caloundra leave the train at Landsborough, where excellent motor cars await to take them to the mountain or the seaside resort. The township is pleasantly situated near the foot of the Blackall Range, many attractive spots being within easy reach. Landsborough Shire has an area of about 450 square miles, and the rateable value of land is £337,000. There are various main roads in the Shire, the principal being between Landsborough and Condondale—30 miles.

BALD KNOB—Combining Sea and Mountain Air.

The health resort and fruitgrowing district of Bald Knob is situated about 3 miles from Landsborough, on the main road to Maleny. The height of this eminence is claimed to be some 1,300 feet above sea-level. From its summit some extensive panoramic views are obtainable, that to the eastward being a vast coastal and ocean view, whilst in the valleys to the west lie numerous dairy farms, the distant ranges forming a pleasant background to a picture of great magnitude.

(1) GENERAL VIEW OF THE GLASS HOUSE MOUNTAINS FROM MALENY, N.C. LINE.
(2) SOUTHERN SPURS OF THE BLACKALL RANGE AS SEEN FROM MALENY, N.C. LINE.

Within about half a mile of the Knob itself, and at an altitude of some hundreds of feet, there is a well-appointed boarding establishment, which should prove a boon to those requiring a quiet and restful holiday amidst pleasant surroundings. Many beauty spots exist in and around the adjacent scrubs and water-courses, apart from those on the hilltops, whilst the atmosphere at all times of the year is most exhilarating.

There are numerous banana and citrus fruit farms on the eastern slopes of Bald Knob and Mount Mellum.

The Mellum Creek Falls can easily be reached from either Landsborough or Bald Knob. Huge ferns of all descriptions are to be found in great profusion about the Falls.

A regular motor service plies to and from Landsborough. Fare, 1s. single.

MALENY—Unique in Variety of Tourist Attractions.

Visitors to the Blackall Range District should include Maleny in any proposed trip. The township lies on the top of a spur of that range and is distant about eleven miles from Landsborough. This spur has an elevation of about 1,500 feet, and magnificent views can be obtained in all directions. The road from Landsborough has been constructed by the Main Roads Board.

All the way from Landsborough past Bald Knob to Maleny scenes of beauty meet the eye, and as the car ascends the range splendid panoramas unfold. The Glass House Mountains, Buderim Mountain, and Caloundra are all plainly seen and present a view unsurpassed in few parts of Queensland.

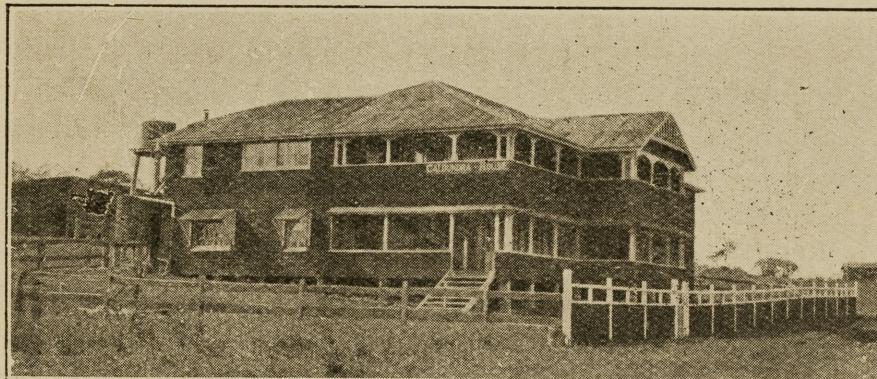

Maleny is a busy little township. There are several stores, an hotel not long rebuilt, and boarding-houses. The Maleny Butter Factory has an average annual output of 500 tons. The district served by the factory includes Witta, Wootha, and Glen-Ern. Motor cars connect at Landsborough with the morning North Coast train to and from Brisbane. Fares, 7s. 6d. each way. Returning same day, 10s.

Among the many district beauty spots easily accessible to the tourist are:—

(4) Bobbermein's Falls (6 miles), lying in a deep gorge in virgin forest. A motor road leads to within a mile of the Falls.

(5) Conondale (12 miles) offers many attractions to the visitor.

The cheap Saturday-Sunday railway fares (first class 12s. 5d., second class 8s. 3d.) enable the busy city dweller to spend a pleasant week-end at Maleny. Leave Brisbane (Central) on Saturday at 1.40 p.m., returning to Brisbane from Landsborough on Sunday at 6.51 p.m. Motor cars meet train at Landsborough on Saturday and return from Maleny on Sunday in time to catch the train to Brisbane. The fare is £1, including hotel charge, but exclusive of rail fare.

CALOUNDRA—For Surfing, Fishing, Boating.

Caloundra is situated approximately 65 miles from Brisbane, 51 miles by rail to Landsborough, and thence 14 miles east by road, and can be reached by rail and motor in about three and a-half hours, or, if desired, it is possible to motor direct from Brisbane to Caloundra in from three and a-half to four hours.

Caloundra may also be reached by steamer and motor launch via Bribie through the scenic Pumice Stone Channel.

With its numerous and magnificent beaches, safe surfing, noted fishing grounds, historic seashores, scenic charms, ideal and innumerable building sites overlooking the Pacific Ocean, Caloundra must some day take its place as one of the principal seaside resorts, not only of the metropolis, but also of all Queensland.

From the Caloundra Lighthouse a magnificent view of the Glass House Mountains and Blackall Range is obtainable, and immediately below is a full-range view of Bribie Island, with the white cliffs of Moreton Island in the distance. Further to the north the Mooloolah Heads rise majestically from the sea, and between this point and Caloundra there is a 7-mile stretch of fine sandy beach.

Caloundra Beach proper lies between Moffat Head and Wickham Point, under the former of which is Tooway Creek, where bathing may be safely indulged in.

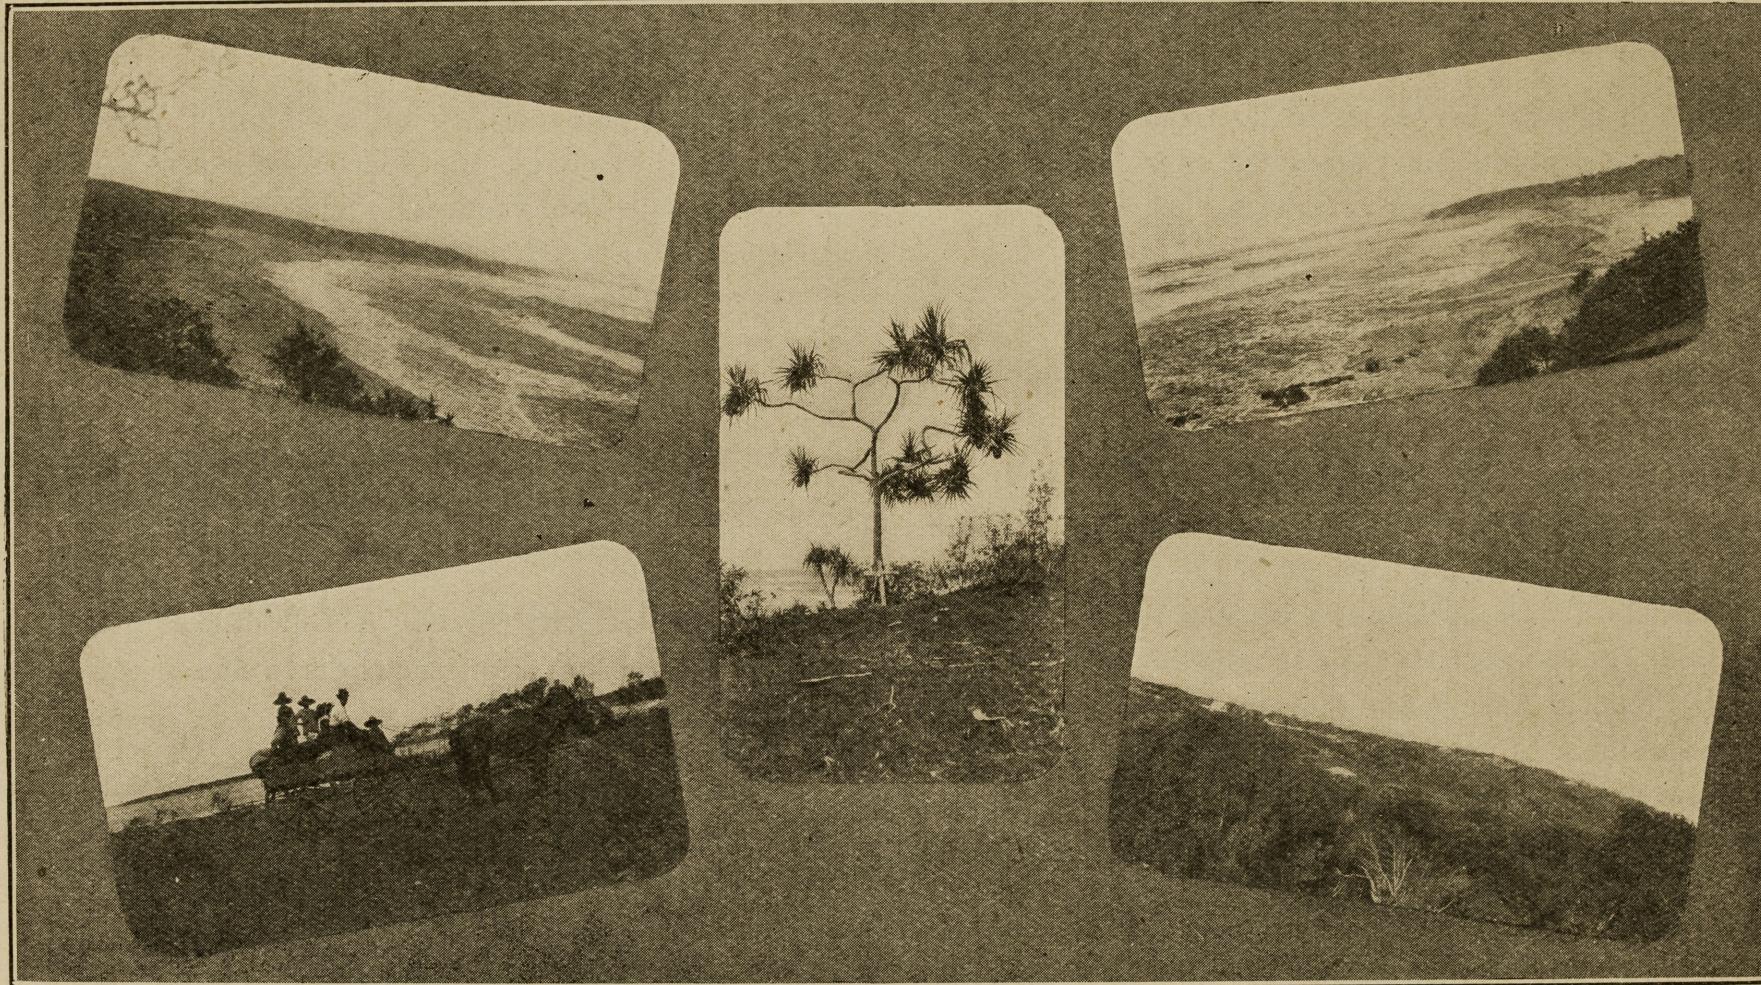

After crossing over the high ground on the northern side of Moffat Head, and before descending to the sandy beach below, the "Queen of the Colonies" tree is located. It is a pandanus tree, and is of historical interest. In the year 1863 the immigrant ship "Queen of the Colonies" arrived in Moreton Bay from London with a number of passengers, one of whom, a married woman, died just before her arrival. A boat's party was sent to bury the body on Moreton Island. After doing so, and when returning to the ship, they were caught by a sudden squall and blown out to sea, but were eventually washed ashore at Caloundra. Search parties were sent out, and one of them discovered the tree bearing the recently cut inscription of the ship. With such evidence, the search was renewed with fresh vigour, and eventually the party was found, after suffering fourteen days' exposure and privations. The tree still stands as a monument of that catastrophe, the lettering on its trunk being clearly discernible at the present day.

About a half-mile to the north of Moffat Head lie the remains of the little iron steamer "Dicky," which ran ashore there on 4th February, 1898.

The surf-bathing place at Caloundra lies in a sheltered position, and is considered one of the safest on the Queensland coast.

As a fishing ground Caloundra is recognised as one of the best, and practically all the varieties of fish found on the coast are caught here. One has his choice of fishing either along the ocean front or in the calm waters of the Pumice Stone Channel, which separates Bribie Island from the mainland.

(5) WICKHAM POINT, FROM LIGHTHOUSE.

Caloundra, as a popular and healthful seaside resort, combining surf and smooth-water bathing, is now coming into its own. Large estates which had been locked up for years have been subdivided and sold. Now substantial residences, architecturally designed for the seaside, accommodation houses, and stores have been erected. Within the last two years Caloundra has made rapid progress.

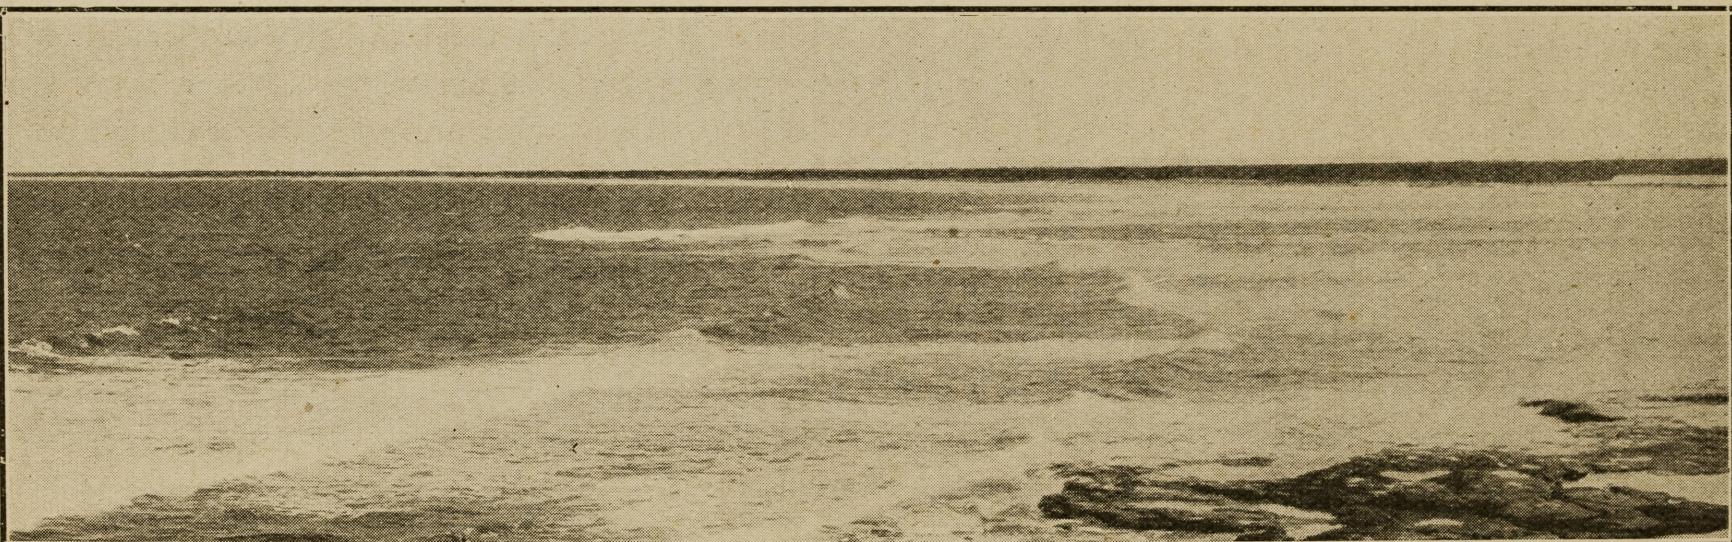

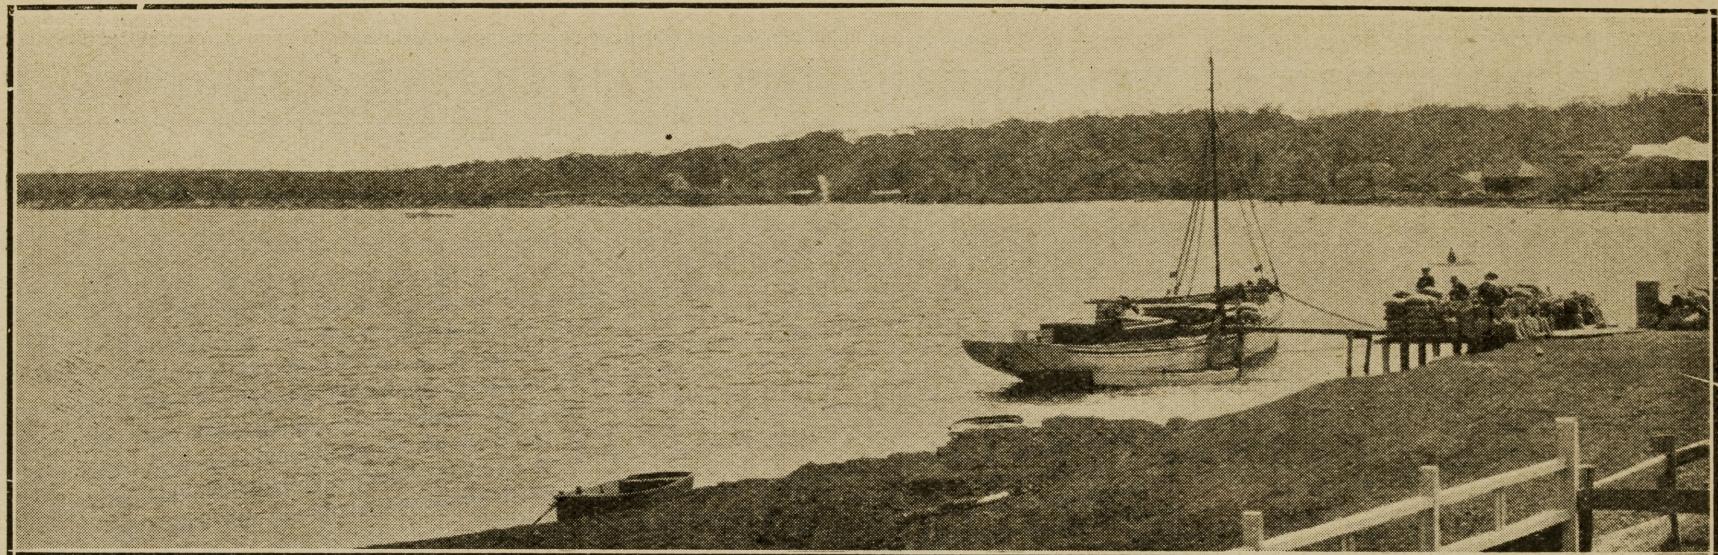

About 4 miles south of Caloundra, at a spot easily reached by motor or pulling-boat, is a rendezvous for old man kangaroos. It is very rarely that one does not see these marsupials when a visit is made thereto. Within 3 miles of Caloundra to the north-west is a magnificent grove of cabbage-tree palms, on the way to which a wonderful variety of wild flowers, including the beautiful Christmas bells, is seen.

Caloundra can be reached by a through water trip from Brisbane. The glimpses of scenery obtained during the passage through the winding Pumice

Stone channel are such that must be seen to be appreciated. Leaving Bribie, Toorbul Point, on the mainland, is passed, then the old fish-canning works. Presently an old iron hulk is viewed; then are seen what appear like fenced selections on the sea, but are really licensed oyster banks protected by this means against the enemies of the shell-fish.

Looking further northward one perceives the green-carpeted sward of the banks on which hundreds of aquatic birds, from the large pelican to small snipe, are peacefully feeding, whilst further away great flocks of black swans are gracefully swimming.

Ever and always about us are the towering peaks of the Glass House Mountains, their grey trachyte sides viewed first from the south-east, thence due east, and again from the north-east. By proceeding from the metropolis to Caloundra via Bribie, and returning via Landsborough by rail to Brisbane, or vice versa, a splendid round trip is afforded tourists.

(2) CALOUNDRA BEACH LOOKING TOWARDS BRIBIE ISLAND.

Good accommodation is obtainable at the hotel and boarding establishments, and during the summer months it is advisable to address the proprietors some time in advance regarding the arrangements for quarters. As a winter tourist resort, Caloundra is ideal.

Means of Access.

(1) Caloundra can be reached by rail to Landsborough; thence motor car or motor 'bus (14 miles), which connects with the North Coast morning train from Brisbane, daily.

(2) Caloundra may also be reached by motor launch from Bribie. Arrangements for this trip may be made with Mr. Evan J. Clarke, of Caloundra. (See advertisement, page 70.)

Brisbane: Capital of Queensland

Picturesquely Situated on the Noble Brisbane River.

Brisbane, the capital of the State of Queensland, situated on the noble Brisbane River, about eighteen miles from its mouth, is naturally one of the prettiest cities in the Southern Hemisphere, and so sustained has been its progress during the past decade that ere long it will rank as the third city of Australia. When Lieutenant Oxley rowed up the river from Moreton Bay on the 2nd December, 1823, little did he dream that in one hundred years a prosperous city would rise on its banks. In 1845 Brisbane had 829 inhabitants; to-day its population, within a 10-mile radius of the Post Office, is 274,260 to December, 1926, while that of the State is 897,429 to 30th September, 1927. Brisbane, besides being the metropolis of the State, is also the port and trade centre of the many fertile districts in the southern portion of Queensland. Its importance in the shipping world is exemplified in the extensive wharfage accommodation provided for oversea and interstate vessels.

The delight of every visitor to Brisbane is the glorious motor trip to Mount Coot-tha, or One Tree Hill, where the finest panorama of city, bay, and landscapes to be obtained in the Commonwealth is unfolded. Other notable car trips are the runs to Cleveland and the Redland Bay District, affording delightful settings of bay views and islands intermingled with the well-kept farms of orchardists; to Mount Tamborine with its scenic grandeur; to Redcliffe and the Humpybong Peninsula along Anzac Avenue. Many pleasant trips can also be taken by tram car, notable among which are those to Dutton Park, Paddington Heights, New Farm, Clayfield, Hamilton, Coorparoo, Greenslopes, Balmoral, Windsor, and Kedron. Other places worth visiting are White's Hill, the Observatory at Wickham Terrace, Botanic Gardens, Eildon Hill, Windsor, and the Queensland Museum.

The Bayside Resorts Nearer to Brisbane

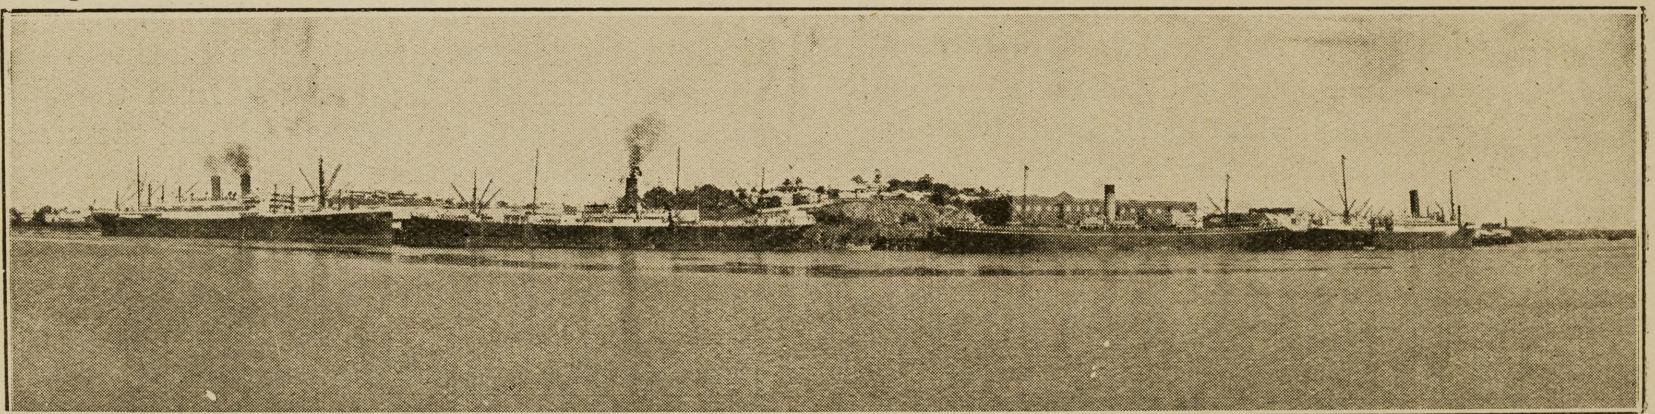

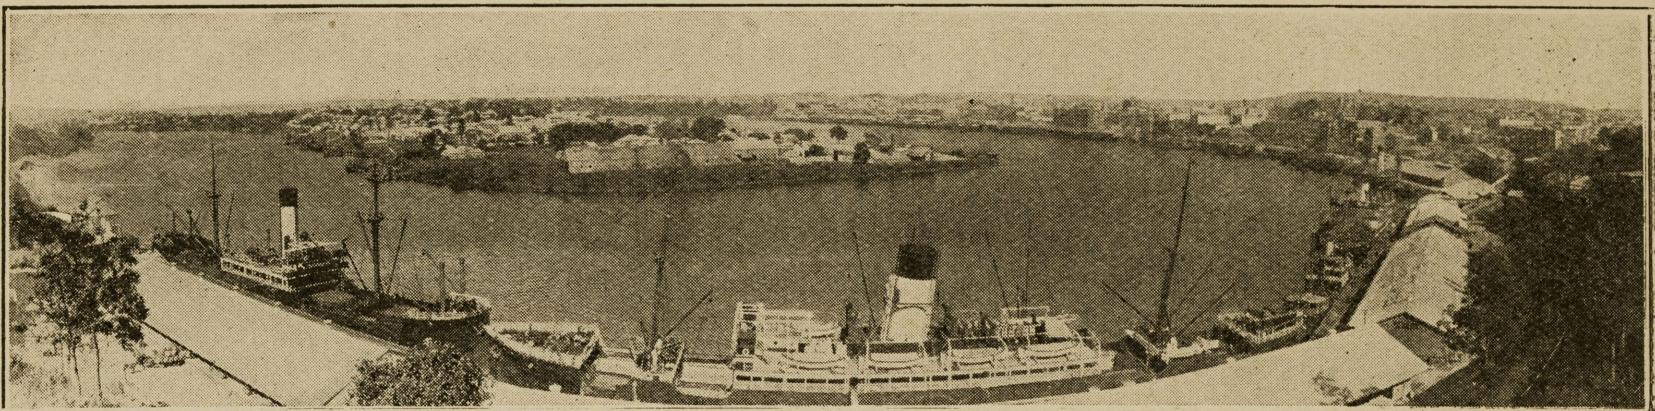

Pleasant Bay Trips—Delightful Motor Runs. Winter's Charm, Summer's Relief.

THE suburban pleasure resorts of Brisbane, on account of their proximity to the capital, are better known than those of the more distant districts of the North and South Coasts. From the metropolis good roads radiate to the many resorts, which, in most instances, are also approached by rail and water. The motorist may enjoy delightful runs to Sandgate, Woody Point, Redcliffe, Scarborough, Manly, Wellington Point, Cleveland, Redland Bay, Southport, and Burleigh, which, for vistas of excellent bay and island scenery and passing views of well-tilled fruit farms, are unsurpassed in Australia.

Nudgee, Sandgate, Wynnum, Manly, and Cleveland are reached by speedy train service from Brisbane, whilst fast river and bay excursion steamers convey an ever-increasing number of patrons to Bribie, Redcliffe, and Woody Point.

Moreton Bay and islands are a perfect paradise for aquatic enthusiasts, and it would be hard to find a better cruising and fishing ground along the coast of Australia than that embraced in the 90-mile stretch of placid waters extending from Caloundra to Southport.

The sheltering influences of Bribie, Moreton, and Stradbroke Islands afford these marine resorts an immense measure of protection from the relentless fury of the Pacific's mighty roll, and their sheltered beaches afford pleasant bathing for the sexes with the elimination of all elements of danger. At holiday times, and during the summer season, these resorts attract city folk in thousands, and are ideal places for spending any vacation. In winter they know nothing of severity; indeed, bleak days on the shores of Moreton Bay are so rare in occurrence that inhabitants are apt to forget that they ever occur at all.

(2) OVERSEA STEAMER BERTHAGE,

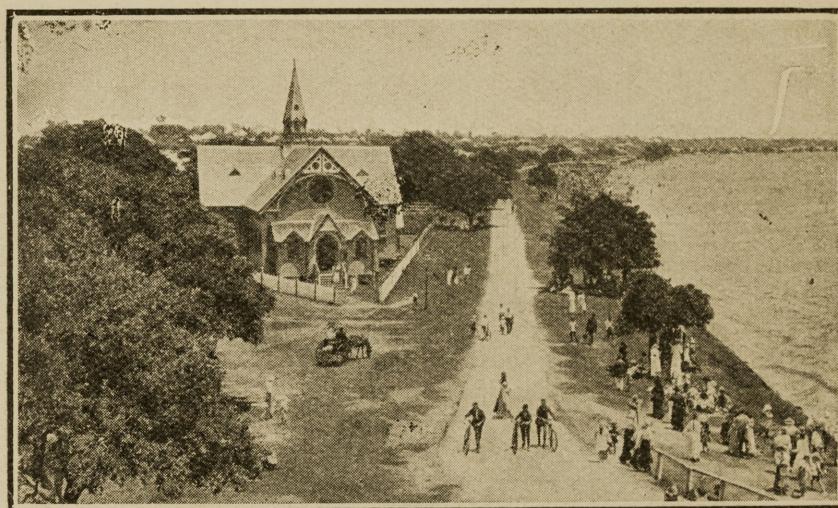

The places referred to in this division all border on Moreton Bay or on its indentations.

SANDGATE—The Brighton of Queensland.

Being the nearest convenient seaside resort north of the mouth of the Brisbane River, Sandgate has grown greatly in public favour, not only with metropolitan residents, but also with residents of many of the country districts surrounding Brisbane. It is pleasantly situated along the shores of Bramble Bay, is only 13 miles from the city, is reached by a frequent train service from the Roma Street and Central Railway Stations, Brisbane, and by a good motor road from Brisbane.

Sandgate properly might be divided into two sections, the Upper Esplanade and the Lower Esplanade. The former extends from the mouth of Cabbage-tree Creek in a northerly direction for about a mile, and includes Shorncliffe and Moora Park. The Lower Esplanade, including Flinders Parade and Brighton, is more conveniently reached by leaving the train at Sandgate Central Station.

This portion of the town has a nice, even water front, the beach along which extends some miles to the northward. Splendid bathing facilities have recently been provided here.

FLINDERS PARADE, SANDGATE.

Sandgate, which is now included in the Greater Brisbane area, was proclaimed a municipality in 1880, and has an imposing town hall and many fine private residences. The population is about 8,000, which is augmented by thousands more during the season. The town is lit with gas and electricity.

It has also an adequate water supply from the Upper Brisbane River.

Sandgate possesses a long pier, to which are attached separate bathing enclosures for ladies and gentlemen. Bathing houses and other conveniences are provided along the water front for the use of visitors.

Really good accommodation at reasonable rates is provided by well-kept hotels and boarding establishments. Many city men, while attending to business in town, spend the evenings and week-ends at Sandgate with their families in the enjoyment and healthfulness of the seaside. Furnished cottages may be rented for short or lengthy periods; arrangements for such tenancy may be made with the local agents.

Fishing from the pier and in Cabbage-tree Creek at times is good, but the best fishing is obtained by hiring a boat and locating the whiting grounds, where excellent seasonal catches of this particular variety can be secured. Sand crabs are plentiful.

Like most of the Southern Queensland seaside places, Sandgate is a sunny and climatically delightful place in which to spend a holiday, and there are few days in the year on which there are no bathers in its waters.

NUDGEET and CRIBB ISLAND.

Nudgee and Cribb Island, both north of the mouth of the Brisbane River, are popular seaside resorts because of their convenience to the centre of the city. Both are reached by rail to Nudgee, and a frequent motor 'bus service connects with the trains to and from Brisbane Central. A motor 'bus also plies between the City and Cribb Island.

WOODY POINT and its Restful Beaches.

This marine resort is situated on the southern extremity of the hammer-head shaped peninsula of Humpybong, and commands the best panoramic view of Moreton Bay and islands. On four days of the week this place may be reached by taking the Pretty, placid Woody Point is an ideal place to spend a quiet holiday, and to the invalid or holiday-maker it offers all that is essential to gaining health and renewed vigour. On the high esplanade of the Point itself cool and refreshing breezes render the summer season delightful, while the shady beaches below afford restful and sheltered spots for taking one's ease.

Scott's Beach, Woody Point, affords first-class bathing. Being clean, sandy, and safe, it is much frequented by visitors. Good beaches also extend in a westerly direction to Clontarf and Hay's Inlet. A shelter-shed, swings, bathing-houses, and other conveniences have been erected by the Town Council, while the large trees along the foreshores provide ample shade for picnickers.

Woody Point is looked upon as a good fishing ground, and receives a fair amount of attention from city anglers, some of whom have at times had great success with their rods on the jetty. From off the reefs excellent catches are also made of schnapper, squire, sweetlip, rock cod, and bream; whilst the shore fishing provides hauls of whiting, mullet, garfish, flathead, yellow tail, and sole. Sand crabs are also very plentiful, and hundreds of these crustaceans are taken in nets from off the jetty.

There are two hotels and several boarding-houses, furnished cottages also being available at reasonable rentals. Campers in great numbers avail themselves of this place during extended holidays.

The back country of Woody Point is well adapted for farming and fruitgrowing. The soil is red volcanic, and at no great distance from the sea front well laid out orchards may be viewed. The fruits chiefly grown are bananas, pineapples, papaws, mangoes, and passion fruit.

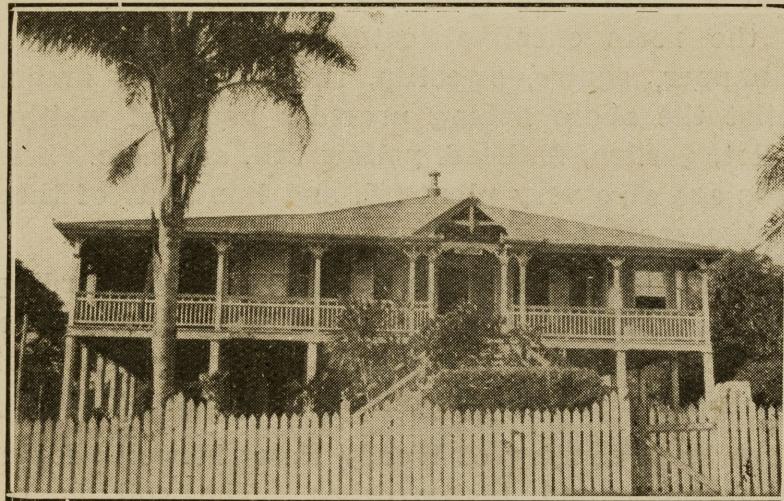

The old jetty has given place to a fine new pier, between 800 and 900 feet in length, very substantially constructed on reinforced concrete piles at a cost of REDCLIFFE—Most Popular of the Bay Resorts— Specially Beloved by Winter Holiday-Makers.

There is no resort close and convenient to Brisbane that has secured such a hold on public favour as Redcliffe. During recent years its progress, as evidenced by improvements in the erection of new villas and cottages, has been remarkable. Choice esplanade allotments are in good demand and fetch high prices.

Redcliffe was discovered by Matthew Flinders, the great explorer, on the 17th July, 1799. It was so named because of its bright red-soiled cliffs or banks that face its bright blue waters, and that have further brightness added to them by their verdantly clad tops.

Situated midway between Woody Point and Scarborough, on the eastern shores of the Humpy-bong Peninsula, it is open to the refreshing breezes of the bay, and commands a good view of Moreton Island, at the southern point of which the sand hills are clearly discernible. It was the site of the first white settlement in the area now called Queensland, founded by Oxley on the 30th November, 1823.

It was soon abandoned, and the aborigines, who, no doubt, had taken large if shy interest in the experiment, named the site "Oompee Boang," meaning "dead houses," from the fact that huts and frames of buildings were left standing there. Accident, time, and habit possibly added the aspirate.

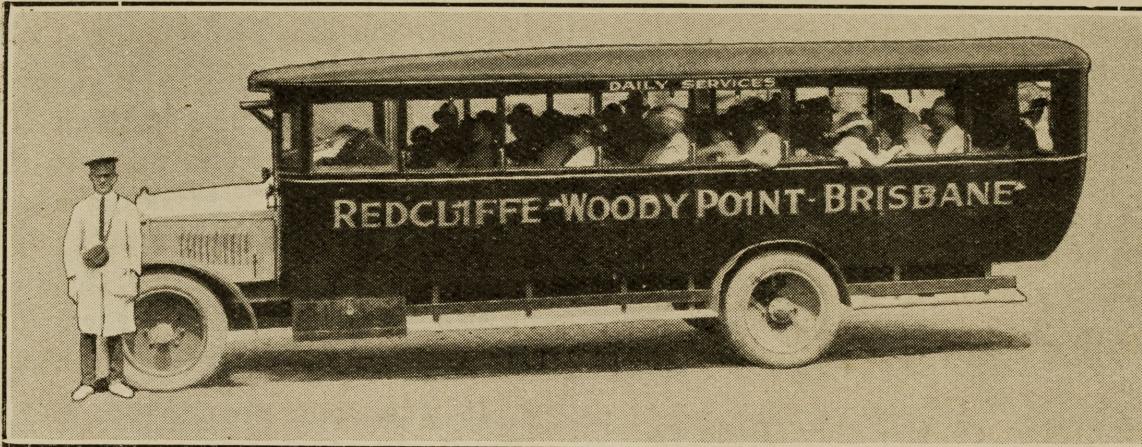

There are practically three ways of reaching this favourite resort. The first is the steamer direct from Brisbane, entailing a run of two hours. The fast and well-equipped excursion steamers "Koopa" and "Doomba," of the Brisbane Tug and S.S. Company, leave the city on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays, and Sundays, and enable passengers to enjoy a delightful and interesting trip on the noble Brisbane River and a quick run across Moreton Bay to Redcliffe. During the height of the holiday season an extended service is afforded. (See advertisement, page 96.) Redcliffe also may be reached by an up-to-date motor 'bus service to and from Brisbane three or four times daily. (See advertisement, page 92.) The greater part of the road is in excellent condition, and the time occupied on the journey is about two hours. The third means to reach Redcliffe is by rail to Petrie, thence by motor 'bus.

The road from Petrie to Redcliffe is portion of the Main Road from the boundary of Windsor and Kedron Shires, and has been designated Anzac Avenue. The distance is 12 miles, and the cost of the road approximately £80,000. This road is now planted with trees.

Redcliffe, the pleasantly and shadily located, possesses some fine stretches of white sandy beach, where bathing can be enjoyed in perfect safety at all tides. The most popular of these beaches is Sutton's, at holiday times a mass of sportive humanity of all ages and sizes. Robinson's and Margate Beaches, towards Scott's Point and Woody Point, and Queen's Beach, towards Scarborough, also claim their fair share of bathers.

Amusements for visitors are provided for in two good tennis courts recently put down in Centenary Park, and a nine-hole golf course is now being prepared. The Beach Amusements Company has started their building on the famous Sutton's Beach to cost about £9,000, the first section of which will be available for Christmas, 1927.

Electric light has recently been installed.

Fishing is good in this part of the Bay, and many good hauls have been made by anglers. Shore fishing comprises mainly whiting and bream; whilst the usual variety of reef fish can be secured in proximity to the various reefs.

A substantial and handsome new jetty, 900 feet long, built under the direction of the Redcliffe Town Council, is now in use, having been officially opened by the Governor, Sir Matthew Nathan, on the 4th March, 1922. It is built on ferro-concrete piles and head stocks, and its total construction has cost approximately £14,000. It has a diamond-shaped head, with somewhat similar bearings and berthing to those which served so well at the old jetty. A pavilion has been erected on the jetty, and is much appreciated by the public. For the purposes of securing the cliffs fronting the sea along the higher portion of the township against erosion, a thirteen-chain seawall was built, at a cost of £4,000, and the depression formed behind the wall also has been built in. The Council, ever solicitous for the comfort of visitors and campers, has put down public bores, one with a good stream of water being located quite close to the jetty.

There is refined and wholly comfortable accommodation, comprising both hotel and boarding establishments, yet at the Easter and Christmas vacations it is not sufficiently large to cope with the great influx of holiday-makers. To save disappointment, it is therefore imperative that application for the necessary accommodation should be made at least two months beforehand. The same applies to the renting of furnished cottages and villas, which, at holiday time, are in great demand at Redcliffe, on the Humpybong Peninsula, and towards Scarborough. A very comfortable picture show opposite the jetty affords a pleasant evening's amusement.

The winter climate of the Moreton Bay tourist resorts is unsurpassed anywhere in the world. Blue skies, blue seas, warm sunny days, a warm friendly sea tempting sojourners to the surf and the broad but gentle sunlight, renewed vigour for walks and games, are some of the attractions which Redcliffe has to offer winter season visitors.

SCARBOROUGH—The Attractive and Charming.

Scarborough is situated on the northern point of the Humpybong Peninsula, and is within 2 miles of Redcliffe, from which point it is reached by motor 'bus, over a well-made road through open forest country. As a resort for spending a quiet, restful holiday it specially is to be recommended, and for many years past it has enjoyed much popularity among anglers, who find in the open-boat fishing off Reef Point, in Deception Bay, good sport among the schnapper, squire, parrot, sweetlip, emperor, bream, rock cod, and other deep-sea fish.

There is a fine sandy beach with public bath-houses, and at places good shelter right to the water's edge is obtainable.

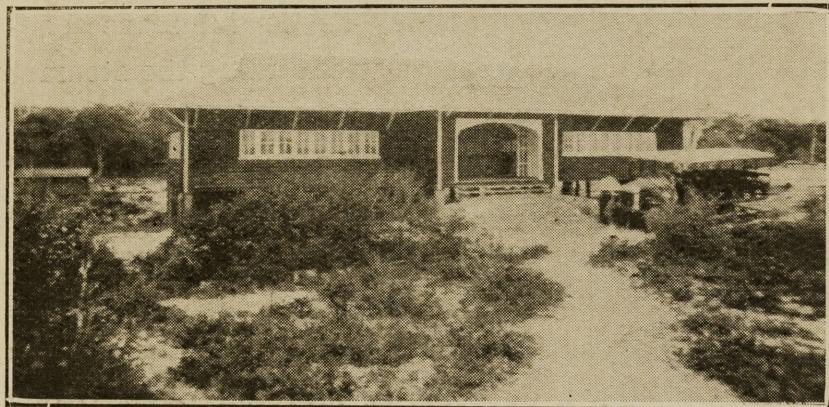

A motor 'bus and motor cars meet all steamers at Redcliffe, conveying passengers to or from Scarborough. (See advertisement, page 97.)

BРИBIE ISLAND—The Rising Resort.

Bribie Island, or Bribie, as it is more conveniently called, is reached by continuing the steamer trip in the s.s. "Koopa" or "Doomba" past Redcliffe to its furthest limits. It is 38 miles from Brisbane, and is reached after a three hours' run from the city, the steamers berthing at a short, well-constructed jetty. Bribie Island and Moreton Island, which lies opposite at a considerable distance, form the most northern outposts of Moreton Bay. Bribie Island is about 20 miles long, from 2 to 3 miles broad, and is well timbered.

Near the jetty there is a commodious refreshment-room, where fish and oyster dinners are obtainable, and also stores at which campers can purchase requisites. A large pavilion, bathing-sheds, and other conveniences for the use of visitors have been erected. Accommodation is provided for by a number of boarding-houses, and, as a further inducement, the steamship company has erected twelve huts of a standard design and size (14 feet by 12 feet) along the inner beach. On application to the caretaker, Bribie, these may be let at the following rates:—Ordinary weekly tariff, 6s.; Christmas, New Year, and Easter, 10s. per week; week-ends, 3s. 6d.

For the excellence of its fish and oysters, Bribie is known far and wide, and during the summer months the company run their steamer to Bribie every alternate Saturday to afford city folk and anglers an opportunity of a week-end at this resort.

Bribie has made rapid and substantial progress during the past two years. An excellent road has been constructed from the jetty across the island to the Ocean Beach, where a handsome and commodious kiosk has been erected by the Brisbane Tug and Steamship Company for the convenience of visitors. The main ocean beach is ideal for surfing, and excellent fishing may be enjoyed nearly all the year round. This beautiful hard sandy beach stretches for miles along the eastern side of the island. Motor 'buses meet all steamers and convey passengers to the ocean beach.

There is a Government experimental station a short distance from the jetty. Visitors will receive much assistance and useful information from Mr. Bob Davies, at his store near the jetty.

Some splendid views are obtained from the higher ground, or even from the several jetties. Looking across the great expanse of Bay waters, more conspicuous among the islands may be mentioned Fisherman, St. Helena, Green, King—the latter connected at low tide with the mainland at Wellington Point—Moreton, Stradbroke, and Peel.

Wellington Point proper is some distance from the railway station, and at holiday time is a regular calico township. Good bathing and fishing can be enjoyed, while oysters are obtainable on King Island and elsewhere in the neighbourhood. The Point is a popular resort of motorists, especially at week-ends, the road from Brisbane being fairly good.

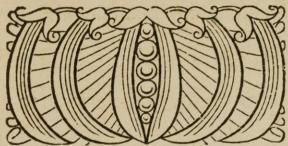

CLEVELAND AND REDLAND BAY.

Passing on from Wynnum and Manly, the Cleveland Railway traverses areas devoted to fruitgrowing and other forms of cultivation. Visitors who are unfamiliar with banana, pineapple, papaw, and mango culture, find it very interesting to see these fruits here at close quarters. The route, too, increases in picturesqueness in such association.

The motor trip by road from Brisbane to these districts is delightful. Nowhere in the Commonwealth can more superb glimpses of peaceful bay and island scenery be obtained or better cared for fruit farms viewed, the whole forming a combination not easily effaced from the memory of the tourist.

Cleveland West and Cleveland Central each have a railway station, and each forms part of one of the most unique and picturesque marine resorts in the Commonwealth. The streets are broad and lined with enormous Moreton Bay fig-trees which offer a wealth of shade. The soil is brightest red, and red banks above emerald green lawns and playing-grounds with bay waters near by make a charming aspect. Cleveland Point, or Peninsula, stretches out narrowly with the bay waters pressing against it closely on either side. Near its end it broadens out, giving room for a pretty red-roofed village, inclusive of a very popular hotel for recuperative purposes. A long pier stretches out temptingly, picturesquely, and for practical purposes. It is provided with a shelter, and is a favourite scene of exercise in the piscatorial art.

All the year round the climate of Cleveland is delightful. It is much frequented by convalescents, acting under skilled orders; is free from mosquitoes and other pests, and always charming; is never more so than in winter—the typical South Queensland winter, with its cheerful sunshine and wholly pleasant atmosphere.

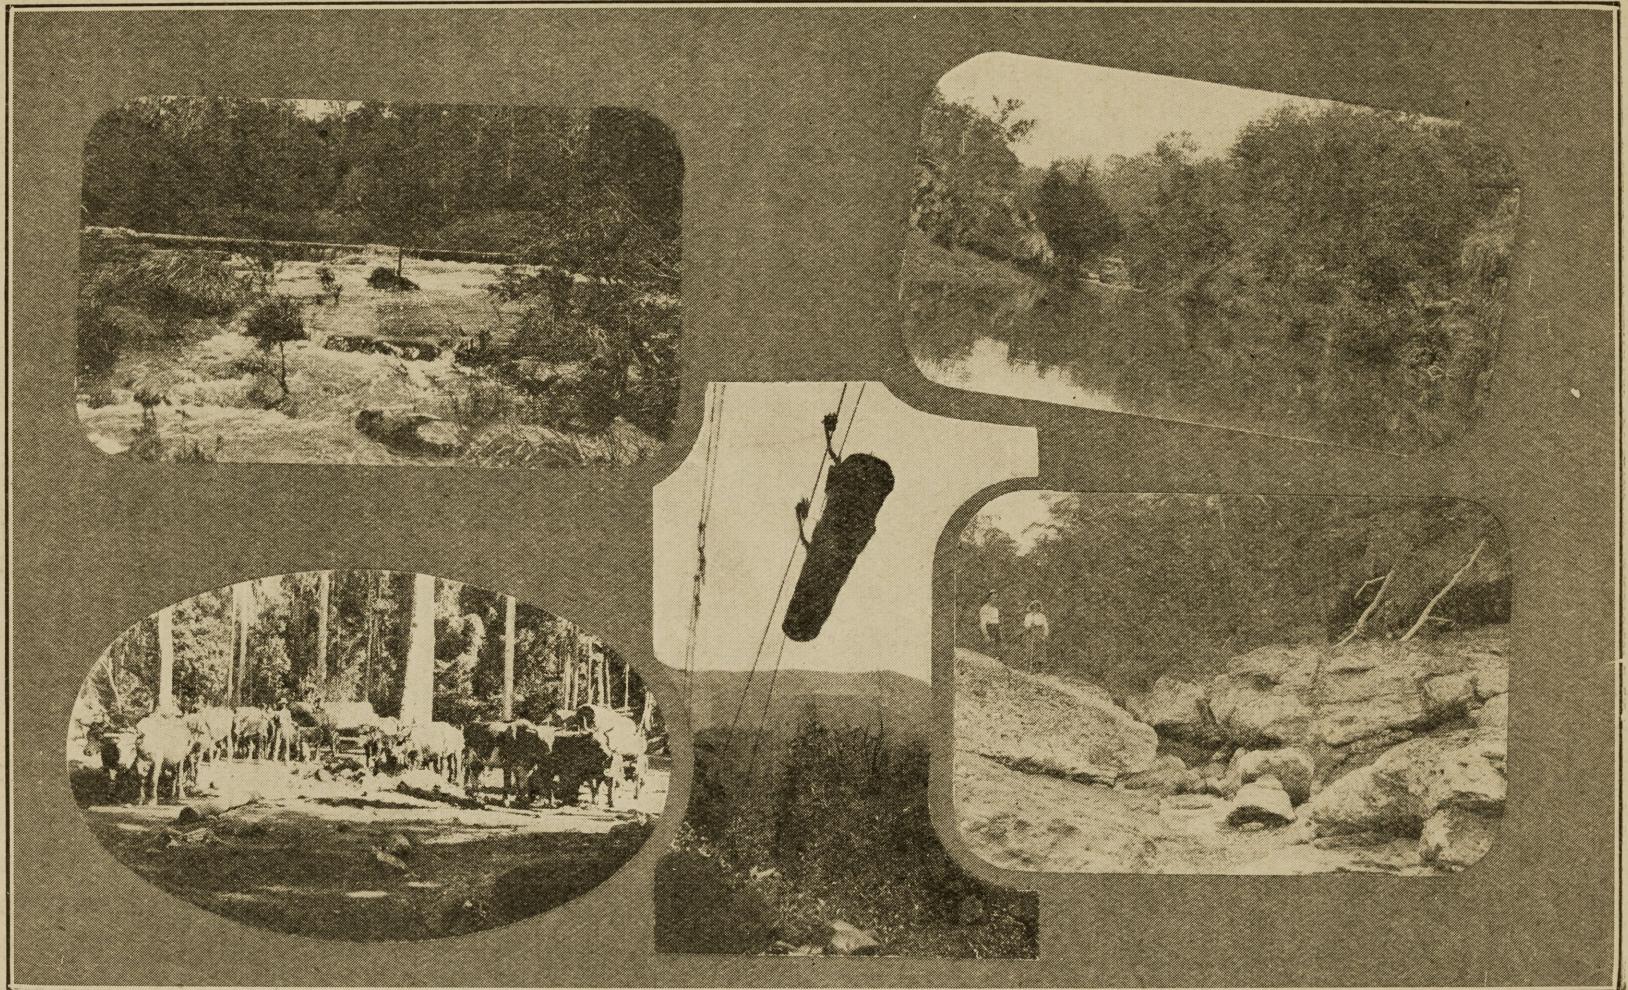

Cleveland is a popular rendezvous for motorists. But 23 miles by rail from South Brisbane, its accessibility has marked it for special favour among excursionists. Viewed from Ormiston on the close of a winter's afternoon, the panorama unfolded is forcefully reminiscent of a beautiful Mediterranean Sea scene in the Riviera, and herein lies its specially magnetic charm to the motorist and tourist from the Southern States.

There are two first-class hotels, also two or three well-appointed boarding establishments.

Fishing, swimming, boating, bathing, cycling, and motoring are provided for the enjoyment of the holiday-maker, whilst a tour of the surrounding country reveals a district rich in beautiful fruit farms of sub-tropical character.

Redland Bay, about 9 miles distant from West Cleveland Station, is reached by a motor-car service, which plies daily (except Sunday), with an extra trip on Saturday afternoon, between these two points. The way lies by rich orchards and pretty homesteads. Bananas, pineapples, papaws, citrus fruits, mangoes, passion fruit, and the less familiar custard-apple lend variety to the aspect of the orchards.

“ How fair a prospect rises to the eye,
Where Beauty vies in all her vernal forms

—Bruce.

Canungra lies at the mouth of a pass across the coast range, where spurs from Tamborine Mountain slope down to meet those from the Darlington Range. Through this pass runs the main road towards the Coomera River, from which branches offer easy means of access by motor-car or other vehicle to the summits of Beech Mountain and Tamborine Mountain. Each of these possesses grand scenery, rich vegetation, and numerous waterfalls. The village of Canungra lies on the right bank of a creek of the same name, that flows north to join the Albert River, the main tributary of the Logan. Here the tired business man or the inquiring naturalist can find accommodation at Bellissima, noted throughout Southern Queensland for its good management and excellent cuisine. Above the settlement the Canungra Valley becomes a narrow gorge, walled in between two parallel ranges, of which Mount Witheren is the principal height. The banks of the creek abound in shady and picturesque nooks, affording shelter for picnic parties, and offering opportunities for the biologist and photographer.

Trains leave South Brisbane Station for Canungra on Mondays at 2.47 p.m., Tuesdays to Fridays at 11.0 a.m., and at 1.30 p.m. on Saturdays.

TAMBORINE MOUNTAIN.

Charming Vistas and Salubrious Air.

"Have you ever been to Tamborine Mountain?" is a frequently made query which, if answered in the negative, usually is followed by glowing descriptions of the beauties and climatic advantages of that elevated area. Tamborine Mountain is famous for its evenness of temperature, its magnificent views, its fertility and the beauty of its natural vegetation.

From the northern end of the Mountain, known as Tamborine North, to the southern end is about five miles, and the whole Mountain top is full of interest. Visitors intending to go to Tamborine North and Eagle Heights should leave the train at Tamborine Railway Station, and complete the journey by the char-a-banc which meets all trains. A regular motor 'bus service also runs from Brisbane. (See Advt., p. 112). The distance from Tamborine Station is about 8 miles, but the journey is a delight from start to finish. A splendid road has been constructed by the Main Roads Board. It has an easy gradient of 1 in 15 to 1 in 20, and passes through beautiful scenery. Glimpses of virgin scrub, palms, tree ferns, and "babbling brooks" hold the interest of travellers. From the top of the mountain (2,000 feet) some glorious views can be obtained. A handsome hotel on most modern lines has been erected, and is equipped and conducted in a manner to suit refined tastes. Excellent boarding-house accommodation can also be obtained.

Excursions on foot or on horseback may be made on the mountain or tableland. Interesting spots on Tamborine North are: The Gorge on Sandy Creek and Curtis's Falls on Upper Cedar Creek, both of which are handy, being only half a mile distant on either side of the Mountain. Adjacent to the latter the ruins of the old sawmill still remain, and good service was rendered by it in the early days of the timber industry of this district. Amidst a profusion of palms, tree and ground ferns, the waterwheel used as the motive power in those days is still standing.

Eagle Heights is a place of high vantage—a place, too, of verdant lawns, beautiful jungle, rivulets, and red soil.

Its outer edge looks out, over wavy lines of lower ranges, to green valleys threaded by silver streams, and further still to the sea 10 miles distant, but plainly seen glittering in the sunlight, and foamily dashing against rocky headlands.

At night the lights of Southport glow in friendly fashion.

By day, when sunshine and clear air assist, the view extends to Burleigh Heads, Currumbin, and Point Danger.

Moreton and Stradbroke Islands are plainly seen.

Looking directly southwards more beauties of Tamborine Mountain scenery meet the gaze. The St. Bernard Hotel is distinguished with a legion of wooded spurs lying between.

The steep land below Eagle Heights has been reserved in its natural state. It is the home of hundreds of varieties of birds, some of them very rare, as the lyre bird and regent bird.

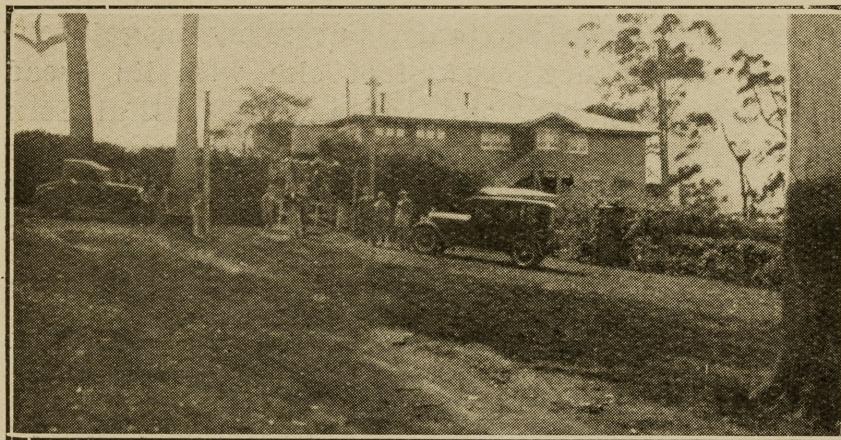

Within a few minutes' walk—down a gorge with pleasant slopes and restful boulders—is Palm Grove, a Government reserve, in the heart of which is a waterfall. Not palms only, but many magnificent species as hickory, crows-foot elm with its broad phalanges, fig, ivy, and the most beautiful fern species there may be admired. The pathless way to the falls is marked by arrows. A nine-hole golf course and tennis courts provide recreation for visitors so inclined.

Visitors to the southern end of Tamborine Mountain should go by rail to Canungra.

The ascent from Canungra township leads by motor-car over a pass in the Darlington Range, a distance of seven miles. Canungra Village, from which the way has led so steeply, lies in its sheltered glen. Beyond and all round about it are ranges, the nearer hills in verdure clad, behind them higher hills purpled by distance, and far away, but clear and striking in profile and altitude, a magic uneven line of blue marking the everlasting peaks and domes of the lofty Macpherson Range. Barney, Lindesay, Maroon, Gipps, and other mountains are identifiable by their height and station, and over all is celestial blue.

The ferns of the scrubs, too, are of the rarest and most beautiful varieties.

On the south-eastern side of Tamborine Mountain there is spread out a scene, broad and complete, and of infinitely varied charm. Almost on the edge of a precipitous descent there stands a friendly hostelry known as the St. Bernard Hotel, which is modern and spacious and possesses the permanent advantage of this wonderful outlook. The name seems strangely transplanted from snowy Alpine regions to a scene so full of genial warmth and colour as this.

From the southern spur many delightful rambles can be made through the surrounding country. Guanaba Creek, at the foot of the St. Bernard Falls, affords a pretty and very striking picture, as does the Secluded or Middle Fall in Guanaba Gorge. Adjacent to the hostelry and following the course of Guanaba Creek there are also the Little or Red Fall, the Wire Rope Fall, and numbers of others. Tracks have been cut and lead one to the most convenient and beautiful of these enchanting spots. On Cedar Creek, midway between the two spurs, there are Curtis's and the Cedar Creek Falls, both of which are within comfortable walking distances of either spur.

Turning easterly from South Tamborine, and passing by picturesque farms and dwellings, an upward road leads to Wilson's Lookout. Down below the scene stretches from Moreton Bay to the great "National Park," and is inclusive of Tweed Heads. It supplies a picture of unsurpassed loveliness—a picture that cannot pall.

Farther on is an outlook known as Lahey's Outlook. It is a gift from Mr. Lahey to the locality, and from its third floor yet more glorious vistas are obtained.

A road easily negotiable goes down the mountain-side to Canungra.

A pretty refreshment kiosk supplies excellent quality and refined service at very moderate prices.

More and more, because of its accessibility, its rare atmosphere, and its loveliness, Tamborine Mountain is becoming a week-end and holiday objective.

Through the South Coast District of Queensland and the Northern Rivers District of New South Wales.

THE Luxurious Saloon Motor Coaches of the New England Motor Company provide a convenient, comfortable, and reliable means of transport through the South Coast District of Queensland and the North Coast District of New South Wales. These Motor Coaches pass through scenic beauties which cannot be reached by rail. The type of coach used is unsurpassed in any State, and the comfort and pleasure derived from a trip in one of them have been much appreciated by the travelling public.

These coaches leave Brisbane and Lismore daily, and run regularly on schedule time. The route from Brisbane is via Beenleigh, Coomera, Southport, Burleigh Heads, Currumbin, Coolangatta, Tweed Heads, Murwillumbah, Mullumbimby, and Bangalow to Lismore. (The Queensland portion of the route is described more fully elsewhere in this publication.) The road throughout is in excellent to fair condition. The scenery en route holds the interest of passengers. Scenes of peaceful rivers and creeks, dense scrubs of semi-tropical vegetation, the rollers of the mighty Pacific Ocean curling and breaking with thunderous roar along a magnificent stretch of sandy beach, and the bold headlands of the South Queensland Coast, must appeal to all lovers of the beautiful and majestic in Nature.

The run from Coolangatta to Murwillumbah affords passengers an opportunity to view the beautiful Tweed River, and as the coach nears Murwillumbah, Mount Warning, in all its stately grandeur, arrests attention. From Murwillumbah to Lismore the route lies through some of the finest dairying country in New South Wales. The Burringbar Range is crossed, and at various points glorious views of the surrounding country may be obtained. From the highest point on the road over the range a magnificent panoramic view unfolds itself and is one of the striking features of the trip. Mullumbimby is the next town of importance. From here a delightful run may be made to Brunswick Heads, aptly termed "a pearl of the Pacific."

Continuing the journey by direct route to Lismore the coach passes on to Bangalow. Byron Bay is seen on the left. The fine lighthouse erected on the most easterly point of Australia presents a commanding picture. At Byron Bay, the "Norco" butter factory is well worth a visit, as it is conducted on the most up-to-date lines. Bangalow is an important township and the centre of a truly wonderful dairying district. From here to Lismore some splendid views may be obtained. This whole area presents a striking picture which conveys a sense of stability and progress. Lismore is a well-laid-out and highly prosperous town. The streets are wide, and well lighted at night by electric light. Some very fine displays are made in the business places of the town. From Lismore the motor journey can be continued next day to Tenterfield, Ballina, or Grafton, the latter being a particularly attractive route.

SOUTHPORT—Queen of Watering Places—Summer and Winter, Sunshine and Surf.

Southport, situated only fifty miles by rail from South Brisbane Station, stands supreme as a general health, holiday, and pleasure resort. Lavishly endowed with great natural beauty and unique physical features, its irresistible charms appeal to all sections of the community.

Southport, where ocean, bay, and river meet, is distinctive amongst watering places in that it is separated from the Pacific Ocean by three parallel lines of beach, a broad expanse of placid water where the estuary of the Nerang River merges into Moreton Bay and two narrow strips of land—the mainland and Stradbroke Island—held apart by the racing waters of the bar.

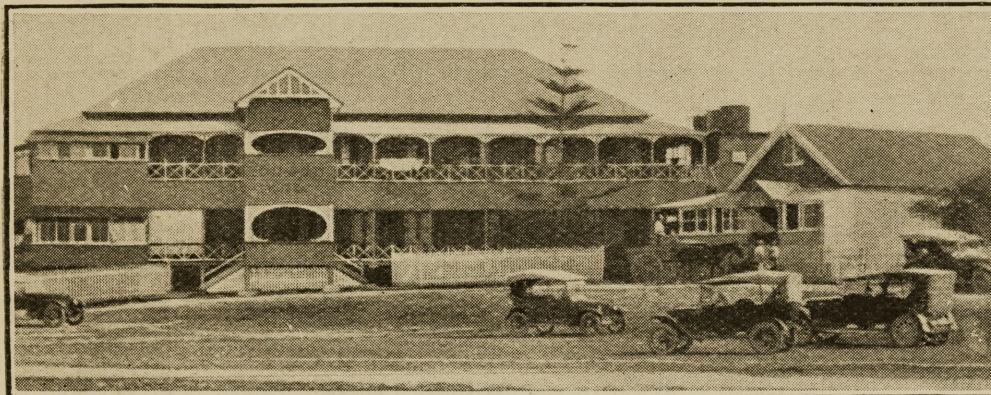

Southport proper faces the western shore of the Nerang River estuary, whilst the elongated mainland and the point of Stradbroke Island practically make this resort a land-locked one, thereby ensuring calm water for its two miles of esplanade, shelter from gales and freedom in summer from direct heat and glare. It is the nearest resort south of Brisbane where true surf bathing may be enjoyed. A great ocean beach extending south to the basaltic headland at Burleigh is reached by crossing the fine Jubilee Bridge, 580 yards in length, at the mouth of the Nerang River. Surfing may also be indulged in by boating over to the ocean beach on Stradbroke Island, which lies conveniently and protectingly close.

Boating.—Many delightful motor boat trips may be enjoyed from Southport. Pleasant short trips may be made to Stradbroke Island opposite for surfing, fishing, and exploring the beauties of the scrub on the Island. For scenic glory the upper reaches of the Nerang River afford all that can be desired. Extended motor trips may be made in Moreton Bay, a favourite all day trip being that to Jumpin Pin, the scene of the tragic wreck of the "Cambus Wallace" on the 3rd September, 1894. The motor run thereto abounds in interest. Leaving Southport, the placid waters of the Broadwater, past Deepwater Point and Labrador, are crossed and the fishing and oyster-cultivating settlements of Currigee and Cooran on Stradbroke Island are noted. Numerous islands wooded to the water's edge and the fiveways at the mouth of the Coomera add variety to the scene. Jumpin Pin is of interest, as it was at this spot that the ocean broke through and bisected the southern portion of Stradbroke Island not many months after the wreck of the "Cambus Wallace," the figure-head of which can be seen outside the Railway Hotel, Southport, near the Railway Station. The fishing is consistently good and large creels are of daily occurrence.

The waters at the mouth of the Coomera River, Coombabah Creek, the gutter at Stradbroke Island opposite the Grand Hotel, the Deep Hole in the Broadwater, the breakwater in the Nerang River, near the Narrow Neck, and the various surfing beaches are also greatly favoured by anglers. The catches may include huge groper, rock cod, jew, parrot, bonito, flathead, whiting, bream, squire, schnapper, and other well-known Moreton Bay varieties.

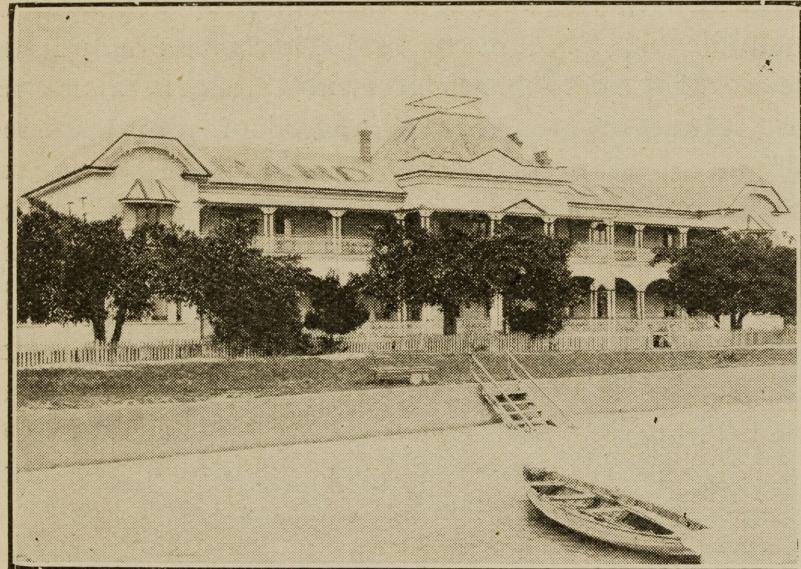

Regular excursions are made to the various beauty spots and fishing grounds by several launch proprietors at reasonable fares. Comfortable motor and rowing boats may also be hired at moderate prices.

Motoring.—The motorist has the choice of a wide range of trips. The exquisite mountain grandeur of Springbrook, Beechmont, and Tamborine Mountain, the verdant fertile flats of Benowa, Carrara, Merri-mac, Mudgeeraba, Nerang, and Coomera; the rich banana plantations at Mount Nathan and Ormeau; the adjoining seaside resorts south to the border linked together by the new Main Coastal Road are all within easy reach of Southport.

Sporting.—The Southport Golf Links are distant about two miles from town. A good nine-hole course is available for visitors every day of the week at a daily fee of 2s. 6d., or £1 per month. A fine club house equipped with modern conveniences has been erected and a professional has been engaged by the Southport Golf Recreations Limited, who own the links.

The surface of the Southport Bowling Green compares favourably with any other in Queensland, and visiting bowlers are always welcomed. The green fee is 2s. on Saturdays, 2s. 6d. on special occasions (inter-club matches, &c.), and 1s. 6d. on week days.

Wednesdays and Saturdays are the official days, but visitors can make arrangements to play on other days.

Visiting tennis players may at all times, upon payment of a small fee, play as temporary members or hire the splendid antbed courts of the Southport Tennis Club, situated in Queen's Park.

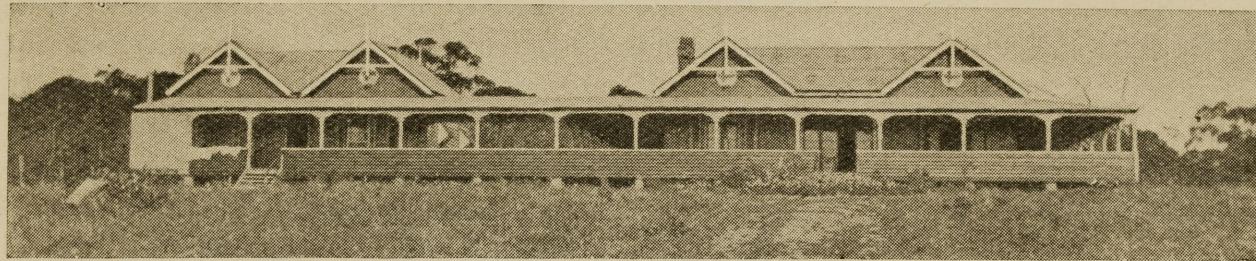

Amusements.—Several dance halls and two modern theatres provide amusement at night. Street carnivals, during which residents and visitors promenade the town in fancy costumes, engage in confetti battles, and sing and dance on the pavements are held at Christmas and Easter.

A long substantial reinforced concrete pier, centrally situated, has been erected by the Southport Town Council at a cost of £5,000, and is much availed of by promenaders and anglers. At the end of the structure is a commodious pavilion and band rotunda, and during the off season roller skating is indulged in. Attached to the pier are enclosed baths, where deep-sea bathing may be taken in complete safety. The pier has recently been leased by Southport Golf Recreations Limited for a long term. The company has spent over £10,000 in improving the structure, mainly by the erection of a huge picture palace and dance hall, where visitors and others may enjoy the varied entertainments regularly provided. The seating capacity of the theatre is about 2,000, and the dancing floor will accommodate several hundred couples.

Educational.—In educational facilities for the younger generation, Southport is exceptionally well catered for. Quite apart from the usual State School, there are the State High School, the Star of the Sea Convent, beautifully situated in spacious elevated grounds overlooking the pier and the blue waters of ocean, bay, and river, and the Church of England Grammar School for girls and boys. In the case of the latter institution, better known as the Southport School, accommodation is provided for 250 boys, who are educated and quartered in imposing structures neatly designed and ideally situated on the banks of the Nerang River. The grounds are tastefully laid out and include tennis courts, cricket pitches, and other sports areas. St. Hilda's Girls'

VIEW OF SOUTHPORT FROM MAIN BRISBANE-COOLANGATTA ROAD.

Grammar School is situated close to the centre of the town. This fine brick building is an architectural acquisition to Southport and stands in 25 acres of ground. It has been designed on modern hygenic lines and can easily accommodate 100 pupils.

The Southport Town Council controls local authority matters in respect of the town and adjoining rural areas. The permanent population of Southport is estimated at nearly 6,000. In the Christmas season the population expands to over 20,000. The town is lit by electricity and is much favoured for permanent residence by retired pastoral, commercial and professional people.

Commercially, Southport is well served. There are many fine shopping establishments, a branch of the Queensland Ambulance Transport Brigade with three cars and brick headquarters erected at a cost of approximately £5,000, a well-staffed post office, four banks, a School of Arts with an up-to-date library, and other institutions essential in a modern town and tourist resort. The official municipal publicity officer is Mr. M. J. Sullivan, Nerang street, Southport.

The pleasure of a holiday at Southport in the winter is enhanced by a climate than which there is none more perfect in the world. Then and there Melbourne's and Sydney's bitter winds and Tasmania's snows are forgotten, and the joys of outdoor life appreciated to the full.

Rail and Motor Services.—Motor 'bus services conveniently ply from the Railway Station to Land's End, Meyer's Ferry and Burleigh Heads, and from the Post Office to the Main Beach, Burleigh Heads, Coolangatta, and other places, whilst the New England Company's service coaches from Lismore and Murwillumbah to Brisbane pass through Southport several times daily.

Trains run from South Brisbane Station (Melbourne Street) to Southport twice daily, except on Saturdays when there are three trains, and on Sundays when there is one.

BEECHMONT—A Delightful Mountain Resort.

Beechmont may be reached most conveniently from Canungra, and is becoming a popular resort with those who delight in the more invigorating mountain air. The road from Canungra is a fairly good one, and passes through a beautiful district. A comfortable boarding-house is available for visitors. Beechmont is 2,000 feet above sea level, and the climate is similar to Tamborine Mountain.

SPRINGBROOK.

Situated on the Macpherson Mountain Range 2,600 feet above sea level, Springbrook offers many attractions to holiday makers. Visitors should leave the South Coast train at Mudgeeraba and the remainder of the journey to Springbrook is accomplished by motor-car over the new road constructed by the Main Roads Board. The ascent is well graded, and the charm of the scenery all the way amply repays visitors for their trip.

Comfortable board may be obtained at Mrs. F. E. Rudder's "The Canyon," with whom arrangements should be made for conveyance to and from Mudgeeraba. Some delightful rambles around the mountain top can be made from the boarding-house. The view of the canyon is one of the finest on the South Coast. Numerous waterfalls may be visited, one in particular, the Purling Brook Falls, being specially worth attention. Horses are available for those who desire to go further afield. Dixie's Lookout is easily reached. From this point, which is 3,200 feet above sea level, and right on the New South Wales border, a magnificent panoramic view can be obtained. Directly south, Mount Warning stands out boldly. Murwillumbah is seen in the middle distance. The eye wanders over miles of mountain and valley, and one cannot but be impressed with the majestic grandeur of the scene.

In summer or winter the climate of Springbrook is delightful. Summer heat is modified by cool breezes from the Pacific. No extreme cold is experienced in winter. As a health resort or as a place to spend a restful holiday, Springbrook can be recommended with confidence.

BURLEIGH HEADS—And its Ozone-fanned Headlands.

Of the many seaside resorts on the South Coast line Burleigh Heads is fast becoming one of the most popular, owing to its beautiful surroundings, safe bathing, and fine fishing and oyster grounds.

During the Christmas, New Year, and Easter holidays hundreds of tent-dwellers of both sexes camp on the reserve on the foreshores of the main ocean beach wisely set apart for the purpose by the Nerang Shire Council, the nominal fee of one shilling (1s.) per tent per week being charged, and the council providing water and sanitary arrangements.

Burleigh Heads has many advantages over the majority of such resorts. Here are lovely beaches for surfing, with Tallebudgera Creek, where fish and oysters abound, within ten minutes walk of the camps. A climb to the top of Big Burleigh reveals strange basaltic formations, many of them columnar in shape. It is undoubtedly the most commanding headland between Southport and the Tweed, and is prettily wooded. A lookout from the summit of Big Burleigh Head, which has an altitude of several hundred feet, reveals a most charming scene. At its foot, to the south, enters Tallebudgera Creek, which gracefully winds its way through the many sandbanks and runs for miles into the distant ranges. On the southern bank of the creek the beach extends as far as the entrance to Currumbin Creek.

Thickly-wooded, tall-timbered hills and green lowlands, lily-covered lagoons shaded by trees, the nearer and further beaches, the sharply defined headlands, the whole seen in crescent shape, the green of the shallow waves breaking on white sand, the deep blue of the deeper waters and the frequently unbroken blue of the skies above make of Burleigh Heads, as seen from the Bluff, a scene of highest charm. No finer views are obtainable anywhere along this ocean frontage, and Burleigh has a big future.

Being only about two miles from West Burleigh Railway Station, Burleigh Heads village is easily reached. A motor-car can be arranged for to and from the station.

A more popular way of reaching Burleigh Heads from Brisbane is by rail to Southport, thence by motor-bus which meets the train at the railway station, or by the New England Company's motor coach direct.

The new road constructed by the Main Roads Board is now available from Southport to Burleigh and beyond. It is an excellent road for motoring, and enables visitors from the city to reach Burleigh quickly by car.

There are stores at the township, where groceries, &c., may be obtained, and arrangements can be made for the supply of bread, meat, and milk. There are a number of cottages, which, from time to time, are let furnished together with the use of boat. Good accommodation may be obtained at the hotels and boarding-houses, and a picturesque rustic cafe, also another more formal, provide fruit, iced drinks, and other refreshment.

Many bathing-houses have been provided and are so grouped that they add no deteriorating touch to the aspect of the water front.

The surfing spots at Burleigh are first-class, and one near Big Burleigh Head has a particular call for those liking a combat with the rolling surges and yet desiring a safe beach.

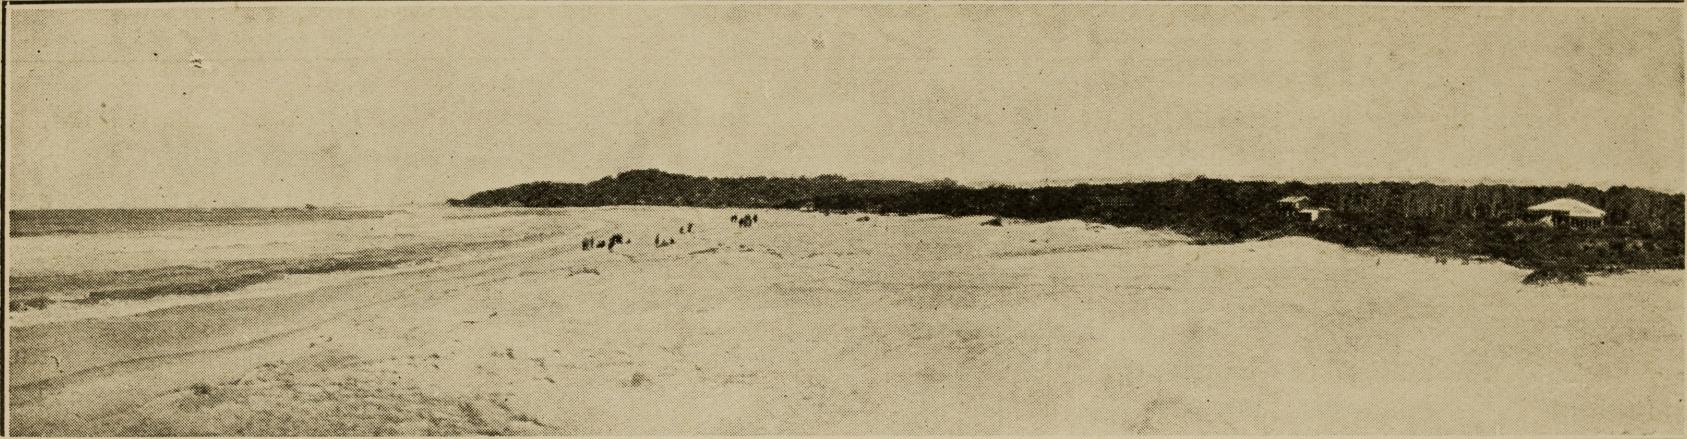

At no time of the year is the resort of Burleigh Heads with its sister resort of Little Burleigh more enticing than in the winter months, when the climate of this region is the most equable in Australia.

Trains run from South Brisbane Station to Southport twice daily except on Saturday when there are three trains, and on Sundays when there is one.

PALM BEACH, ELANORA.

A delightful holiday resort that is rapidly becoming popular among holiday makers. Beautiful scenery, inviting beaches and surf, large tidal creeks and splendid fishing all combine to place Palm Beach among the most popular of South Coast resorts. Burleigh and Currumbin Headlands on the north and south respectively of this crescent-shaped beach give splendid protection from the heavy north-east and south-east weather, whilst Tallebudgera and Currumbin Creeks afford a pleasant change for those who weary of the surf or prefer smooth water bathing, fishing, and boating. Elanora (only half a mile from the beach) is the Railway Station, and from the train at this point is secured the first glimpse of the Rolling Pacific Ocean. Visitors are met by motor-cars and conveyed over a well-made avenue to the beach.

Many well-built and well-furnished cottages are available to holiday makers at reasonable rentals, either on the beach or adjacent to it. Hotel Palm Beach is designed for comfort and has spacious verandas and its own electric light and water supply, garage, and tennis court.

Anada Guest House plays its part in giving visitors a very pleasant holiday. There is a regular mail and passenger service connecting with the Brisbane trains at Southport, and, as the Lismore to Brisbane motor service passes through Palm Beach daily, the transportation facilities leave nothing to be desired. Numerous motor 'buses and service cars make regular daily trips for the benefit of visitors to all the picnic and beauty spots between Southport and the Northern Rivers of New South Wales.

Golf and bowling enthusiasts can follow their fancy at either Southport or Coolangatta, both of which are within easy distance of Palm Beach.

There is a well-appointed store, and all tradespeople, including milk, ice, and fish vendors, deliver to the door.

The beaches are said to contain quantities of gold and other minerals, and at time of writing a well-financed and influential company has been formed to exploit them.

Those who are seeking an ideal place for spending the rest of their lives, or for passing a long vacation or merely a week-end, should visit Palm Beach if they have not already done so.

CURRUMBIN—A Sportive and Scenic Resort.

Currumbin Railway Station, from which Currumbin Creek and Currumbin Beach are gained at a distance of less than a mile, is the next railway depot south of Elanora. Currumbin village and beach may be approached also by a delightful seaside road from Coolangatta—a drive now frequently included in the festive programme of South Coast visitors.

The original settlement at Currumbin was and still is at the broad mouth of Currumbin Creek, where there is a background of wooded hills and safe, though always well rippled, water in the forefront. The Hotel Currumbin and a large residential establishment are situated at this spot, which is much frequented by swimmers and women and children who like a dip free from the breakers' force and roar. Anglers also have a paradise here.

A few yards further on is an ocean beach, associated with increasing settlement, and now popular with bathers who shun the larger crowds who take their surf-bathing joys at Coolangatta.

Currumbin is very prettily situated. Currumbin Island, Currumbin Rock, Currumbin Beach, and Currumbin hills are features of the scene, and the natural colouring is as harmonious as charming.

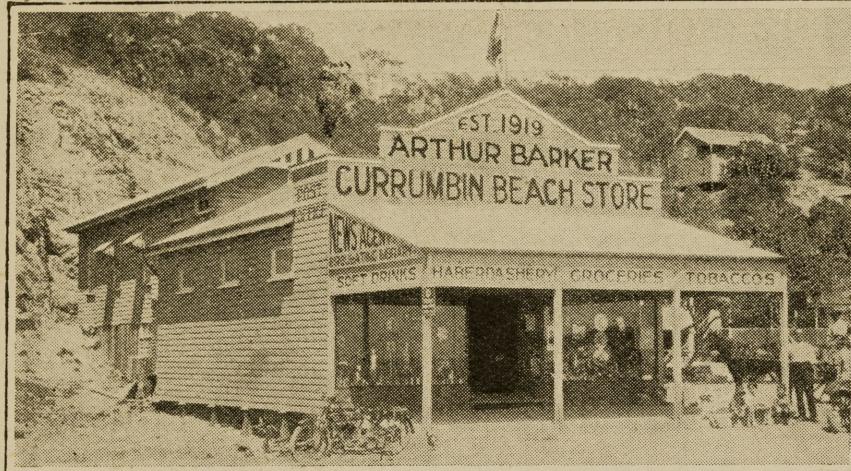

A substantial bridge has been constructed over Currumbin Creek, and provides a great convenience to motorists to and from Brisbane.

A row up the creek, which is navigable for four miles, proves most enjoyable, the scenery en route adding much of interest. A visit should also be paid to "The Hanging Rock," situated on Mr. Freeman's farm, a very interesting study; as are also the neighbouring scrubs, which abound in varieties of ferns, orchids, and other beautiful plant forms and flowers.

The industries of the surrounding district comprise banana-growing (hundreds of acres being already under cultivation), citrus culture, dairying, and

TUGUN AND BILINGA.

After leaving Currumbin the South Coast Railway next touches the two rising seaside resorts, Tugun and Bilinga. Both of these are of quite recent development, and both are growing rapidly in size, and in the favour of holiday-makers. They are situated on a fine sandy beach between Currumbin and Coolangatta.

Tugun has many nice cottages, mostly owned by city folks. There are several well-stocked stores where all the requirements of residents and visitors can be obtained; also an hotel.

Bilinga, which is nearer Coolangatta and is only two miles from it, is progressing rapidly also. Houses for summer residence are being erected and in most instances occupied by the owners. The beach is very popular for surfing, and is considered very safe. The road from Tugun through Bilinga to Coolangatta forms part of the Main Road from Brisbane to Tweed Heads. Bilinga has a beautiful beach, where safe surfing may be enjoyed and good fishing obtained.

Street Station, South Brisbane, or by New England Company's motor coach service from Brisbane. Farm and orchard lands very shortly are reached, and are seen amidst picturesque surroundings at Beenleigh and Stapylton. Pimpama, formerly a sugar-cane district, Coomera, where there is a large tidal creek much favoured by fishermen, and Nerang, with its intense cultivation, form the most interesting portions of the route. Although the sea is close at hand during the latter part of the journey, it is not fairly seen till very near the end thereof. Coolangatta is the last station but one, and always many passengers will leave the train there with the intention of sojourning in the fine hotels and other houses of accommodation which directly face extensive beaches.

There is nothing more certain than that much which was written at any but the latest possible date concerning Coolangatta and the shoreland lying immediately north of it will be out of date. The progress of Coolangatta has of late years been so rapid that it well deserves to be classed as phenomenal, and northward of Coolangatta, for a distance of several miles, the same story of amazing progress may be seen and told. Kirra, Bilinga, and Tugun are new northern suburbs of Coolangatta, each of them with their ocean beach front, their new clearings and new residences thereon. Yet, only a few years ago, prior to the auction sales of land in these localities, there was nothing there but scrubby acres and unfrequented ocean sands. No greater advertisement of the prosperity of Queensland and of Queensland's metropolis can be supplied than this constant and quickly fulfilled demand of householders for houses for purely holiday purposes.

There is nothing more arbitrary than a dividing line, and sometimes nothing more comical. Most newcomers to Tweed Heads find something humorous in the fact that a double line of post and barbed wire fencing with a narrow space between, known as the buffer area, forms the dividing line between the States. Tweed Heads township belongs to New South Wales, and just over the fence is Coolangatta, the pride and joy of tens of thousands of proudly proclaimed Queenslanders, where, among other things, a difference in domestic legislation makes all the difference.

It is becoming very difficult to find any Queenslander who does not familiarly know the sea sands and sea wash at Coolangatta. At holiday times the bathers may be numbered by thousands, and at no time of the year will the Tweed Heads and Coolangatta hotels and boarding-houses be without their companies of strangers. Each year, too, as already stated, sees a large extension in the number of private dwellings. Most of these are built on pretty architectural plans, and their red roofs add to the picturesqueness of the scene.

Very conspicuous, on the sea front, is the stern basaltic headland of Point Danger, so named by Captain Cook in 1770, the cliffs scarred and creviced by the thunderous surges that have rolled in from the eastward from time immemorial, and carved their merciless records on those grey-black rocks.

A short walk across the border to the Pilot Station on North Heads reveals a fine panorama. Looking south and immediately below is the entrance to the Tweed River, along the southern bank of which the main ocean beach extends as far as the Fingal Lighthouse. To the east of this is Cook Island, and further to the south is Cudgen Reef, noted as one of the best fishing grounds on the New South Wales coast. A few degrees to the west, the winding waters of the Tweed itself are discerned—only a narrow neck of land dividing them from the ocean.

To the west and in the foreground lie the Tweed township, Razorback, and the surrounding cultivated hills, with the distant peaks of Macpherson Range in the background.

Northward lie Coolangatta, Danger Bay, Currumbin (with the strange rock formation at its entrance), Burleigh Heads standing out prominently, with Southport and Stradbroke Island in the far distance. The whole of these beautiful surroundings make a panorama which is not surpassed on the east coast of Australia.

A lighthouse is on the South Head, which is known as Fingal Point. Motor boat or river steamer excursions from Tweed Heads are often made to Fingal, which has as its chief attraction a series of basaltic rocks of similar conformation to those in the celebrated "Giant's Causeway" of the Old World.

Clean and safe beaches, with restful rocks at either end to make seats for staid observers, supplied with many public and private bathing-houses and all the appliances for life-saving, closely contiguous to a refreshment kiosk, and overlooked by hotel balconies, verandas, and look-out towers—Coolangatta's surfing spots are perfectly located for sociability, recreation, and sport.

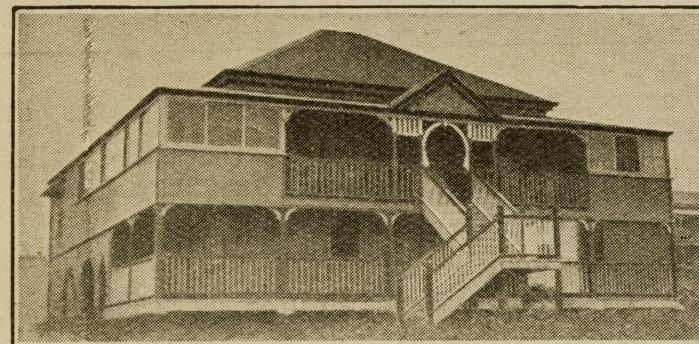

The prevailing note of the township here is modernity. Electricity, brilliant lighting, hot water services, choice but generous cuisines, climatically appropriate architecture, open-air picture shows, well-equipped cafes, garages, and motor services—everything modern, short of aeroplane service, is procurable.

The municipal councillors of Coolangatta have made "Progress" their watchword, and high and dry areas where once were swamps, seats and shelters, graded roads and easy access to excellent views are numbered among their good works.

With a background of attractive hill and mountain scenery, and within two minutes of Coolangatta Railway Station, Kirra Beach, opened in 1915, has rapidly won public favour both as a bathing and surfing beach, and to-day can hold its own with any ocean beach in Australia. A magnificent stretch of clean sandy beach, safe bathing, excellent surfing and fishing, are its chief attractions, which are enjoyed by increasing crowds every year. A neat shelter-shed, band rotunda, up-to-date kiosk, and dressing-sheds are provided, and the beach is regularly patrolled by the brigade of the Kirra Life Saving Club. Established in 1916, the club attends to the safety and comfort of visitors in many ways. Voluntary patrols are in attendance on Sundays and holidays, and the club have also installed a permanent patrol officer who attends daily from 6 a.m.

Life-saving displays are given by senior and juvenile teams every Sunday during the season. These are both interesting and instructive.

There are plenty of diversions other than those of the beach to be had at Coolangatta and Tweed Heads.

The Tweed River trip, excursions to Fingal, trips up Terranora Creek to Seaview Hill, where magnificent views and refreshment are obtainable; to Terranora Lake, Palm Island, Cobaki Lakes, Piccabeen Creek, and a score of fine fishing grounds are among the most popular.

provide the active with much to enthuse over. On Razorback, from which point a glorious view is obtained, is a quaint, bark-roofed kiosk, which provides delightful refreshment in the form of tea or coffee made from freshly ground beans. Coolangatta for Winter Holidays.

Both at Tweed Heads and Coolangatta an increasing and very wise tendency is noted to utilise the scene for winter holidays or winter residence. Rarely, indeed, does the locality record the occurrence of a bleak day, yet in winter the weather is cool enough to enable sojourners to indulge enjoyably in the most vigorous exercise. Walking and climbing are thorough delights, games are all-day-long events, and surfing is the most unalloyed pleasure under the genial June and July sun.

A winter holiday at Coolangatta or Tweed Heads is very similar in its climatic character to a summer holiday at Hastings, Brighton, or Scarborough in England. No special hardihood, but merely the true joy of living, is needed to face the breakers. Summer insect pests are not, and even the tender skin of infants escapes the penalty of serious sunburn. To those who have never experienced a winter seaside holiday in South Queensland, this booklet's earnest advice is, "Try one."

The Tweed Trip.

Glorious Scenery—Smiling Farm Lands.

All students of maps should know that the Tweed River forms portion of the boundary between New South Wales and Queensland, and, knowing so much, should be interested further to learn, or better still, to see, that it is a very beautiful boundary indeed.

The widely increasing popularity of Coolangatta beaches, which are close to the Tweed's mouth, has made many Queenslanders and New South Wales Northern Rivers residents familiar with the beauties of the river whose ancient namesake in Britain also forms a natural border line.

Murwillumbah, 20 miles up the Tweed River, may be reached from Tweed Heads either by a comfortable river steamer, a char-a-banc, or a motor-car. Holiday-makers at Coolangatta who have time to spare will find it advantageous to make the trip one way by steamer and the other by road. Travelling by car it is necessary to cross the river by steam ferry at Boyd's Bay and again at Chindera or Tumbulgum. The road passes over Seaton Hill, and from this elevation a splendid bird's eye view of the winding river may be obtained. The river steamers ply each way twice daily, and the scenery either by car or steamer is charming.

The river journey occupies about two and a-half hours, while motor-cars take one and a-quarter hours. The trip is full of beauty all the way.

Those intending to travel by char-a-banc or car would be well advised to secure their seats at Coolangatta. On Mondays and Fridays the steamer from Tweed Heads does not arrive at Murwillumbah in time to catch the train for Lismore at 3.25 p.m., but this can be easily accomplished by travelling from Coolangatta to Murwillumbah by char-a-banc or motor-car. (See Advt., page 164.)

From the very commencement of the trip eyes are attracted by a stately mountain peak which, no matter how the course may seem to wander, remains in view all the time. This peculiarly attractive peak, Mount Warning, belongs to the Great Dividing Range. Like Point Danger, it was named by Captain Cook, who first saw it from the sea in 1770.

Both sides of the river have beauty and charm. Sugar-cane on the hills and slopes, sleek dairy herds on the flats, red roads around and over the uplands, riverside farms and villages, busy ferries and punts, jetties at which cans of cream and other eloquent products of primary industry await transport; small densely-foliaged islands, strange stony formations, but the crown and glory of the trip is the long extent of palm scrub reservation by which the river way leads seekers of beauty. A sugar-milling village passed en route is embowered in green.

Of late years banana cultivation has been a big industry on the Tweed River. The protective tariff imposed by Commonwealth enactment in 1921 gave a great impetus to banana-growing.

Murwillumbah and Mount Warning.

As Murwillumbah is neared many barges are seen grouped at their moorings. These ordinarily are used for the conveyance of sugar-cane to the mill, but sometimes they have cargoes of ballast.

The Tweed divides Murwillumbah into two portions, and is here spanned by a handsome bridge. Small craft can travel some miles further up stream, but passenger steamer traffic ends below the bridge. The railway station is close to the wharf. The line leading out from it extends to Grafton on the Clarence River, and is often chosen as a return route from Brisbane to Sydney by persons who are desirous of a change of scenery and of viewing intensely fertile country.

The close pressure of green-clad red-soiled hills has caused Murwillumbah to increase in length rather than in width. It is a pretty and a busy town in which are high-class hotels and up-to-date shops, libraries, and other fine buildings. It has a daily newspaper. Motor-cars are available for trips to places of interest, and not infrequently visitors make a point of getting as near as possible to that strangely attractive peak, Mount Warning.

On the return river trip Mount Warning and the crumpled line of blue which represents its nearer associations in the Great Dividing Range still more insistently claim the eye, and still more emphatically arouse the artistic sense. Undoubtedly their charm is assisted by their paradoxical appearance of unity in non-uniformity.

The Northern Rivers District of New South Wales

THE NORTHERN RIVERS DISTRICT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

Various Ways and Means of Reaching Sydney, via Tweed Heads and the North Coast Districts of New South Wales.

Many and diversified are the routes which may be taken by tourists and travellers through the Tweed Heads and Northern Rivers route to Sydney, each possessing some particular charm or scenic beauty entirely different from the others. Particulars of the more important are detailed hereunder.

1. New England Motor Company's Coach from Brisbane to Byron Bay, thence North Coast Steam Navigation Company's Steamer on Tuesday or Saturday. Fare by saloon coach and saloon steamer, Brisbane to Sydney: Single £4, Return £7 5s. If deck cabins are required an extra 5s. is charged. Special attention is directed to the Saturday steamer from Byron Bay. Passengers leaving Brisbane on Saturday at 7.45 a.m. are due in Sydney on Sunday at 5 p.m. Combined coach and steamer tickets may be obtained from the New England Motor Company, Morris House, Adelaide street, Brisbane; Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co., Limited, Mary street, Brisbane; or the New South Wales Government Tourist Bureau, Martin Place, Sydney. This is now one of the most popular routes between Brisbane and Sydney.

2. Rail from South Brisbane Station to Tweed Heads, daily (except Sunday), connecting steamer or motor-car to Murwillumbah, thence rail to Byron Bay and N.C.S.N. Company's steamer (Tuesdays, via Newcastle 5 p.m., and Saturdays direct 5 p.m.) to Sydney.

3. New England Motor Company's Coach from Brisbane to Lismore stay overnight at Lismore. Train following morning from Lismore at 8.50, due Sydney next morning at 6.30 a.m. Through fare coach and first class rail, £6 4s. 3d.; coach and second class rail, £4 16s. 1d.; sleeper (first class only) 12s. 6d. extra.

4. New England Motor Company's Coach from Brisbane to Lismore stay overnight at Lismore. Leave Lismore following morning at 7.45, arrive South Grafton at 12.45 p.m. Train leaves South Grafton 1.55 p.m., arrive Sydney next morning 6.30 a.m. This route is strongly recommended, as passengers have an opportunity to see the beauties of the Richmond and Clarence Rivers. The trip from Lismore to Grafton by motor coach is a delightful one.

Through fare Brisbane to Sydney, motor coach and first class rail, £6 13s. 10d; motor coach and second class rail, £5 9s. 11d.; sleeping berth (first class only), 12s. 6d. extra.

Passengers travelling by routes 3 or 4 can accomplish the whole journey to Sydney in daylight by breaking the train journey at Kempsey, staying overnight and resuming next day at 6.5 a.m., arriving in Sydney at 7.12 p.m.

5. Rail to Lismore, New England Motor Company's services to Tenterfield (daily), and rail to Sydney.

6. Rail to Lismore, New England Motor Company's service through Coraki, Woodburn, Chatsworth, Harwood, Maclean, and Ulmarra to Grafton; thence motor to Glen Innes (main line) and rail to Sydney the same night if desired.

7. Rail or New England Motor Company's service to Grafton; thence train to Sydney.

8. Rail or New England Motor Company's service to Grafton, rail or car to Kempsey; thence motor service to Armidale (Monday and Thursday 11.30 a.m.), and rail to Sydney.

Notes.

Intending passengers to Sydney by steamer from any of the Northern River ports are advised to either write or wire ahead to the agent, N.C.S.N. Company, at such port, requesting the reservation of berth or berths for the date of departure decided upon or, for Byron Bay steamers, see Burns, Philp, and Company, Mary street, Brisbane; or New England Motor Company, Morris House, Adelaide street, Brisbane.
